TOURISTS SPENT $4,000,000 IN CITY THIS YEAR

Conservative Estimate Is Based on Expenditures of 405,000 Holiday Visitors From All Sources; Dominion Report Links Tourist Traffic and Wheat in Estimate of Valuable Industry.

Traveling by all routes leading to Vancouver Island, approximately 405,000 tourists visited Victoria during the holiday, conservative estimates on the volume of travel this year show.

The total shows the sustained increase in the tourist business, the total for last year being 367,000. On the estimate used by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau of $10 spent by each tourist during the season, which is considerably lower than that used by many similar organizations, the value of the business this summer was over $4,000,000.

VALUABLE CONTRIBUTION
The Stevenson ferry alone made a considerable contribution to the tourist business in its first season, accounting for 4,500 automobiles and nearly 18,000 tourists, including foot and automobile passengers.

The nearest estimate that it is possible to secure of automobiles coming to the city during the summer is 39,000 over all ferries bringing in 85,000 passengers.

The increase of the tourist business is strikingly demonstrated by a comparison with the 1927 figures, which show that 6,000 cars came to Victoria then and the number of tourists was estimated at 150,000.

A larger proportion of the tourists this year have been from nearby cities on the Mainland. A slight falling off in the coupon travel or travel to Victoria directed from New York and embracing a tour of many cities is indicated, but efforts of the bureau directed on cities closer home have more than counterbalanced this slight drop.

WORTH $250,000,000 TO CANADA
It is interesting to note that the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in its report of the 1928 tourist trade places its value to Canada in 1928 at $250,000,000 compared with $153,876,000 in 1924. The same report states that in 1927 all the hotels in Canada were circled, and an estimate of the amount of money left with Canadian hotels by tourists from other countries was made on the basis of the returns received. The estimate for Canada was $224,435,000. For British Columbia it was $1,832,000. Increased estimates for 1927 in proportion to the increase in travel the estimated expenditure of tourists in Canadian hotels in 1928 would be $250,000,000.

FAVORABLE BALANCE
Another feature worth noting in the report is the comparison of tourists' expenditures in Canada and Canadian tourists' expenditures in other countries. The expenditure of Canadian tourists in other countries is estimated as $103,245,000 in 1928, $147,556,444 less than the amount tourists spent in Canada.

"The favorable balance accruing to Canada from tourist trade increased by over $20,000,000 in 1928 and represents an invaluable export which is surpassed in value only by the exports of wheat among the leading Canadian commodities exported from Canada in the fiscal year 1928-29," the report concludes.

ANCIENT RUINS FOUND BY FLIERS

Lindbergh Party Reports Sighting of Traces of Mayas in British Honduras

Miami, Fla., Oct. 8.—Discovery of Mayan ruins, believed never before seen by white men, was reported by the radio operator aboard Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's plane flying in the vicinity of Lake Yaxha, British Honduras, in a message to the Pan American Airways base here today. After reporting the takeoff from Belize on the third trip of the joint Carnegie Institution-Pan American Airways Scientific Expedition and a landing and takeoff at Lake Yaxha, Radio Operator William Ehmer broke his routine message with: "Flash—We have discovered regular ruins, now circling them. Scientists all set up."

Ehmer promised details soon.

STOWAWAY TRYING TO REACH CANADA LOSES HIS LIFE

Quebec, Oct. 8.—A stowaway whose identity was not ascertained was burned to death beneath the boilers in the engine room of the steamship Champlain where he attempted to secure passage from the Barbados. It was stated by Captain Simon of the steamship, which arrived here today, that the body of the man was found beneath the boilers a few days after the ship had put to sea.

RESCUE EFFORTS FOR PLANE AND FIVE TRAVELERS

Pilot, Missionary, Wife and Children Disappeared in Saskatchewan Wilds

Machines Sent From Ladder Lake and Lac la Ronge to Hunt

Saskatoon, Oct. 8.—While Canada's greatest aerial hunt was going on in the sub-Arctic, word came down from the north this morning that another party, including a pilot, an Anglican missionary, his wife and two children were missing somewhere in the vicinity of Montreal Lake, central Saskatchewan.

Reports which came in last night to the effect that the party had been found after being lost for fifty-six hours turned out this afternoon to be incorrect. The party, traveling in a Buhl sedan monoplane of the fibery Airways, Prince Albert, have not been heard from for twenty-five hours. Alva Malone, northland aviator, was at the controls when the machine left for Lac la Ronge. In his plan he was carrying Rev. G. Fisher, Anglican missionary, his wife and two children.

The Government planes stationed at Ladder Lake and three machines at Lac la Ronge have been called in the search for the missing party.

SEARCH WILL BE SPEEDED BY COLD WEATHER

Fliers Hunting For McAlpine Party in North Await Ice on Lakes

Winnipeg, Oct. 8.—"No trace of the McAlpine party."

That six-word sentence flashed out of the north after five days of silence, prefaces the story of Pilot "Punch" Dickinson's second airplane dash to the Arctic Circle—a tale of the futile efforts of an airplane squadron to find Lieutenant C. D. H. McAlpine and his seven fellow-explorers, who disappeared in the barren lands with their two planes one month ago today.

To-day Dickinson left Port Smith, on the Northern Alberta boundary after having suggested to search officials that he might hop off to-day on a return dash from Port Rae, on Great Slave Lake, to the mouth of the Coppermine River on the Arctic coast. His next search move, however, will be to proceed to the Stony Rapids base in North Saskatchewan, where his machine will be equipped with ski. It is probable he will first return to McMurray, on the Athabasca River in Northern Alberta, for late traffic, according to Western Canada Airways authorities.

STORMS PREDICTED
Already snow is swirling eastward across the barren lands, according to reports from northern posts. Storms, weather forecasts state, are preaged by the rise in temperatures at almost all points in the Northwest, reporting search activities, almost at a standstill for the past five days, will be resumed as soon as ski-equipped planes can safely land on frozen lakes and snow-covered terrain.

COURT HEARS APPEAL ON MINERAL CLAIM AWARD

Vancouver, Oct. 8.—Three mineral claims, known as the Big Missouri and Kanana, on the Salmon River, twelve miles from the head of the Portland Canal, in respect of which William F. Harris, pioneer prospector of Port Angeles, Wash., was awarded a $100,000 judgment by Chief Justice Morrison, enter into an appeal which is before the B.C. Court of Appeal here.

CANADA TO SHARE IN NAVY CONFERENCE

Washington, Oct. 8 (Canadian Press)—Canada and the other Dominions of the British Empire are expected to be represented at the proposed five-power naval disarmament conference in London next January, according to present plans. The Canadian Press has learned on high authority it is the intention of the British Commonwealth of Nations that it will have representation in London, as at Washington in 1921.

No Trickery Is Basis of British-United States Discussion, Says Hoover

Washington, Oct. 8.—President Hoover today said the conversations with Premier Ramsay MacDonald were being carried on in an atmosphere of absolute frankness and that "neither of us has anything in reserve."

"There is nothing I can report at the present time," Hoover said, "as to the progress of the discussions. We are continuing in the most friendly of atmospheres. We fortunately have no controversies between our countries to be settled. We are therefore able to discuss our mutual problems in the broadest and most friendly of atmospheres. We are therefore able to discuss our mutual problems in the broadest and most friendly of atmospheres. We are therefore able to discuss our mutual problems in the broadest and most friendly of atmospheres."

DOMINIONS ARE ASKED FOR VIEWS ON NAVY PARLEY

London, Oct. 8 (Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—The text of the British invitation to the United States, Japan, France and Italy for a conference in London, on further naval limitation had already been submitted to the Governments of the Dominions, it was learned officially this afternoon.

It is expected the Dominions will send representatives to the conference, but the exact form of Dominion representation has not yet been settled. There were difficulties at the Geneva tripartite conference over the Dominion representation. It was stated at the time that France objected to separate representatives for the Dominions, claiming it meant increased voting strength for the Empire. But France later denied having made such objections.

Trial on Charge Of Bodily Harm

Vancouver, Oct. 8.—No bill was returned by the grand jury on a manslaughter charge against James A. Remson arising out of the James A. Remson automobile accident in West Vancouver on August 24 of D. St. Denis Duchesne, Remson, who was the driver of the motor car, however, will go on trial before a petit jury on a charge of having caused bodily harm to Duchesne. The grand jury returned a bill on these two counts in the indictment.

New York Banker Coming Out of Alaska Hunting Ground; Airman Missing

Anchorage, Alaska, Oct. 8.—Delayed on a trip down the Skwentna River from his hunting camp, James A. Stillman, New York banker, was due to arrive here by boat some time today. Pilot Joe Cronson gave this information here last night after returning from a flight up the river, where he landed and visited Stillman. Stillman had been expected here Saturday on his way to New York, after several weeks of big game hunting.

The banker was to have returned here in a seaplane piloted by Russell Merrill, but Merrill has been missing for over three weeks, and there was not another seaplane available to alight on the river and carry Stillman back. Merrill started for the Kuskokwim region with a heavy piece of machinery. Planes have flown over 10,000 miles in attempts to find him, but without success.

ASK NATIONS TO ABOLISH SUBMARINES

British-U.S. Proposal For Five-power Naval Conference Made Public

Tokio, Oct. 8.—The British invitation to Japan to participate in a five-power naval conference was published here to-night after its receipt by the Foreign Office.

The invitation, approximately a thousand words in length, reviews the British-United States conversations, in which it is stated agreement has been reached on the following points:

1. The Kellogg anti-war pact is the starting point of the agreement.
2. Anglo-American parity of all naval categories shall be reached by the end of 1936.
3. The desirability to reconsider the battleship replacement programmes of the Washington Treaty of 1921 with a view to diminishing the amount of replacement construction therein implied.
4. Total abolition of submarines, subject to a conference with the other naval powers.

STUDIED BY FRENCH
Paris, Oct. 8.—The French Foreign Office to-day announced it had had no opportunity to examine the British invitation to a five-power naval conference and that France's answer to the invitation would depend upon its contents.

It was said France had not changed its attitude, expressed several weeks ago, that it would participate in such a conference always with the idea that its conclusions would form merely one state of general disarmament and would be merged later into a central disarmament treaty which it was hoped to conclude at Geneva.

ITALIANS STATE VIEWS ON NAVY PARLEY PLANS

Giornale d'Italia, Rome Paper, Says Country Needs Submarines

Rome, Oct. 8.—An accord between Great Britain and the United States on naval affairs will be greeted in Italy by "adhesion, but with reserve."

The influential newspaper Giornale d'Italia said to-day:

"It added that although Italy desired peace and limitation of armaments, she would have something to say about submarines. The newspaper considered submarines a defensive arm necessary for nations like Italy which have long coastlines to guard and insufficient finances to protect them with many costly surface vessels."

PREMIER'S BROTHER SPEAKS

Milan, Italy, Oct. 8.—Arnoldo Mussolini, commenting in the Popolo d'Italia on the British-United States conversations at Washington, to-day said the Fascist regime was animated by an honest will for peace.

"Italy fears no attack and meditates none," he said.

DEATHS IN LOSS OF SHIP ARE PUT AT FORTY-FOUR

Sixty-nine Saved After Vessel Struck Rocks on Shore of Norway

Bergen, Norway, Oct. 8.—Thirty-five passengers and nine members of the crew were believed to-day to have been drowned when the Norwegian coasting steamer Haskin VII struck a rock near Flore in a great storm late Sunday night and foundered almost immediately. Sixty-nine persons were saved.

The horrors of the disaster were described by some of the survivors, although many still were suffering so much from exposure and shock they were unable to answer questions.

Twelve third class passengers were imprisoned for hours in their quarters in the bow of the vessel, barely above the water which flooded the rest of the ship. The impact had thrown the captain into the sea and extinguished the electric lights, adding darkness to the terrors of shipwreck.

CAPTAIN RESCUED
The captain swam to a rock, from which he later was rescued, but he was so exhausted he was unable to give any explanation of the cause of the wreck.

Ehmke, Veteran Pitcher, Is Hero Of Close Game

Last-minute Pitching Choice of Connie Mack Turns in Spectacular Performance as Athletics Captured First Game; Strikes Out Side Three Times; Jimmy Foxx's Homer in Seventh Is Only Score Until Ninth Inning; Score 3-1.

Wrigley Field, Chicago, Oct. 8.—Howard Ehmke, veteran American League pitcher, who was announced as a last-minute twisting selection by Connie Mack, proved the "hero of the first world series baseball game" in which the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Chicago Cubs to-day by 3-1.

The "encounter" was a thrilling pitcher's duel until the seventh inning, when the youthful Jimmy Foxx, one of the leading circuit clouters of the American League, broke it up by lifting the ball out of the park. The Athletics clinched the decision in the ninth when Cochrane and Simmons scored after Woody English, the Cub shortstop, fumbled the ball twice.

Following is the inning by inning description.

VET. AND YOUNGEST STAR
Thus it was that a veteran and a youngster proved the stars of the first game. Ehmke smashed all world series records by striking out thirteen of the batters who opposed him. On three occasions he retired the whole side on strikeouts. The slow, floating curves which he hurled across the plate had the much-touted "murderer's row" of the Cubs guessing wrong all the time and on two occasions Rogers Hornsby and Hack Wilson, the leading Cub sluggers, fanned in succession. Two men were on bases when this happened in the third inning.

Foxx's home run, a hard-clean drive into centre field soared away into the stands over Hack Wilson's head for the first score of the series. Previous to this time Foxx had snagged a single in the second inning.

Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler, who roams the right field gardens for the Cubs, scored their only run in the last half of the ninth when a rally by the Bruins was nipped in the bud after Jimmy Dykes, Athletic third baseman, had made a wild throw to first. Cuyler had struck out twice previously.

NARROW ESCAPE
After his brilliant performance, Ehmke narrowly missed serious injury in the ninth inning when Hack Wilson, drove a vicious grounder at him, knocking him over. The whole Athletic team gathered round him but he got up and gamely finished the game.

Charley Root, the Cub speedballer, of whom much was expected by Manager Joe McCarthy, went out in favor of a pinch-hitter when, with two men on and none out in the seventh, the Cubs tried to bring a runner home. Joe Bush finished the game. Up to that time Root had pitched a firm game and had allowed the Athletics only three hits, one of which was Foxx's homer.

TWO ERRORS FOR ENGLISH
The double score by the Athletics in the final game came, after English, the Cub shortstop, had committed errors on two successive chances. Both Simmons and Foxx reached first safely when English fumbled their grounders and Cochrane and Simmons brought home what proved to be the winning runs on Bing Miller's single to left field.

The game did not get under way for several minutes after the scheduled time and the crowd of 50,000 enthusiastic fans became impatient.

Capt. Eddie Collins of the Athletics took advantage of the pre-game recess to shake hands with many of his Chicago friends who crowded down back of the Athletics' dugout to see him.

Elevator Weight Kills Man in Vancouver

Vancouver, Oct. 8.—Crushed when the weight of an elevator fell upon him, Alexander McDonald, an employee of the Vancouver Gas Works met instant death at the company's plant at 11:20 a.m. to-day.

McDonald, according to witnesses, was about to use the elevator and had pulled the cord when the weight, released when someone on a higher floor pulled the cord, fell upon his head, fracturing the skull and causing death.

NEW ZEALAND TO SHIP WHEAT TO GREAT BRITAIN

Wellington, N.Z., Oct. 8 (Canadian Press Cable)—New Zealand has arranged to ship 200,000 bushels of wheat from New Zealand to England this month, according to the chairman of the Wheat Growers' Association, who gave evidence to-day before the parliamentary committee inquiring into the wheat industry. Further movements would depend on the condition of the world markets, he added.

AT THE THEATRES

LOIS MORAN HAS SWEET VOICE FOR TALKIE FILMS

Catchy tunes, dazzling dancers and gorgeous pageantry combine to make "Words and Music," Fox Movietone musical revue, the greatest all-talking, singing, dancing picture yet seen here. It had its opening performance at the Capitol Theatre last night and sent a capacity audience home humming and whistling the song hits.

The chorus of 100 came in for its fair share of attention and revealed that audible screen producers are leaving nothing undone to eclipse a type of entertainment formerly exclusive to the stage.

Lois Moran, making her musical comedy debut, reveals a sweet singing voice. And she dances like a veteran. Tom Patricola, famous in vaudeville and stage musical comedies, scored a new dance called "Stoppin' Along."

Others who contributed sterling performance were David Perry, Frank Albertson, Helen Twelvetrees, Bubbles Crowell, Elizabeth Patterson, Dorothy Jordan and Duke Morrison.

It is all done to save the lover, who has confessed to the theft of bonds to save the girl's father, in the memory of his wife.

CITY COUNCIL

-APPROVES PLAN OF LOGGING RAILWAY-

Formal approval of the application of the Fairview, Gierin Timber Company Limited for leave to construct a logging railway over part of the city watershed lands in the Esquimalt hills was given by the City Council last night. The company is commencing active preparations for an early start on timber cutting next year, when a $25,000 monthly payroll will accrue to the district as a result of large scale operations. Permission given last night covered the necessary right-of-way through city property in sections 54 and 55, in the Goldstream area. Six miles of logging road are to be constructed.

ROMANTIC STORY OF MYSTERY PLAYS AT DOMINION

However well American screen players may be able to reproduce that familiar line of vocal inflection known as the "English accent," it is better done by English actors who were born with it, when it comes to playing character roles for movietone.

That was the theory which partially motivated Irving Cummings, Fox Movietone director, in the selection of players for roles in the all-talking production "Behind That Curtain," adapted from Earl Derr Biggers' widely-read story of Scotland Yard mystery under the same title.

The romantic narrative begins with the murder of a barrister in his London offices, an inquiry by the police and a Scotland Yard inspector, the quizzing of the charwomen and porter of the building, and as the dialogue is typical of the characters involved, all of them are portrayed by English players who have no illusions about the English accent.

Warner Baxter, Lois Moran and Gilbert Emery are featured in this special all-talker which is showing at the Dominion Theatre.

SUPPER DANCES START TO-MORROW NIGHT

This group of well-known musicians will play at the supper dance at the Crystal Garden to-morrow night, which marks the opening of the season. There will be a supper dance every Wednesday. "So many people have been inquiring when the supper dances will begin," says A. E. Cowlishaw, Garden manager, "that it has been decided to commence this feature of the winter entertainment earlier than usual, and the first supper dance of the season will be held to-morrow night. The new Crystal Garden Orchestra will provide music for the occasion and those who intend arranging parties for to-morrow are invited to telephone the Garden and arrange table reservations."

OLIVE BORDON IS WELL CHOSEN AS ARAB BEAUTY

That diminutive Olive Bordon is enabled to portray with such convincing the role of an Arab beauty in "Love in the Desert," Fox offering at the Playhouse Theatre, is due in part to the fact that she is of the "black Irish" type of loveliness. Her brunette complexion, raven hair and perfectly moulded features are admirably fitted for the characterization of Latin or Oriental types on the screen and she has won high praise for her work in the new picture, which was directed by George Melford. Noah Beery and Hugh Trevor are seen in the other leading roles of an absorbing story laid in the Sahara country.

MEDICAL MEN ACCORD HONOR TO DR. KENNING

Well-known Physician Is Elected President of Victoria Medical Society

Annual Meeting Held Last Night at Empress Hotel

Dr. Gordon C. Kenning was last night elected president of the Victoria Medical Society, at the annual meeting held at the Empress Hotel, with thirty members attending.

Dr. J. M. Fowler was elected vice-president and Dr. Allan Fraser secretary-treasurer.

The business meeting followed a dinner at which Dr. R. L. Miller presided and Dr. A. S. Munro of Vancouver gave an address on the early medical history of British Columbia.

Presentations made to the society during the evening included a gavel constructed from the wood of a cherry tree planted by the late Hon. J. S. Helmcken in the late 'fifties, and a portrait of the late Dr. I. W. Powell.

The former was presented by Dr. W. M. Thomas and the latter by the surviving relatives of Dr. Powell, Mrs. Langworthy, Mrs. Doig and Mr. H. S. Powell.

The library committee showed many portraits of prominent physicians and surgeons of bygone days. These included Dr. Ashie, who came to Victoria in 1861; Dr. Matthews, who came in the same year; Dr. George Duncan, who practised in Victoria for many years; Dr. E. B. C. Hamilton, first surgeon of the C.P.R. construction, who came to Victoria in 1873, and who was the first president of the Victoria Medical Society in 1895.

The following were elected members of the library committee: Dr. George H. Dr. W. T. Barrett and Dr. W. M. Thomas. Dr. H. E. Hildwood was named secretary-treasurer of this committee.

Five special concerts at the Empress Hotel this season, November 14, December 11, January 23, March 23, April 17.

A "Touch" of Indigestion?

The trouble is, that indigestion may not stay "just a touch." It keeps getting worse. More gas. More pain after eating. First thing you know, you have to give up eating the things you like and go on a diet. You can avoid all this by starting in now with a morning glass of ABBEY'S. For ABBEY'S stops little troubles before they become big ones. ABBEY'S rests the stomach; keeps it sweet and clean; helps the whole digestive tract to function in a normal, natural way.

Many people take a glass of ABBEY'S two or three mornings a week, just as a preventative—to keep themselves free of a "touch" of Indigestion or Biliousness—a "touch" of Headache or Rheumatism—a "touch" of Liver or Kidney Trouble—or of any of those little ills which—if neglected—so often lead to serious troubles.

NEW COURTHOUSE PROMISED SOON

Early Announcement Forecast By Beatty at Women's Conservative Meeting

James H. Beatty, M.P.P., was the principal speaker last night at a meeting of the Conservative Women's Association, held at the Campbell Building with Mrs. A. J. Gillis in the chair. It was announced that the annual meeting of the society will be held on October 21.

Mr. Beatty reviewed the first year of the Tolmie administration and expressed confidence that the efforts of the four Victoria members to attain a new courthouse for this city would be crowned with success.

"We may expect shortly to have an announcement as to the site and when the work on the new courthouse will commence," he forecast.

R. A. Wootton, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, gave a brief address on "Loyalty."

A buffet supper was served under the direction of a committee headed by Mrs. R. F. Green.

VICTORIA WEST WANTS GAS MAIN CITY INFORMED

On a recommendation by Mayor Herbert Anscomb last night, the City Council informally approved of city action to inquire into the possibility of an extension of gas mains to serve Victoria West. At present no gas is available west of Point Ellice Bridge. It was reported. It was left to the Mayor to negotiate with the Victoria Gas Company to see what could be done. Sections of Fairfield district were also in need of service, stated Alderman H. O. Litchfield, and this, too, will be added to the city's request for information as to what extensions are possible and practicable at this time.

DINNER OF STATE SETS PRECEDENT

MacDonald, First British Prime Minister So Honored
at Washington

Washington, Oct. 8.—All of the splendor of New World democracy glittered last night in the entertainment of a Prime Minister from an Old World power.

Through the historic portals of the White House walked the highest officials, past and present, of the United States Government to sit at a dinner of state in honor of Great Britain's Premier.

The Prime Minister's daughter, Miss Isabel, also was a guest of honor at the formal gathering, the first of its kind given by President and Mrs. Hoover, and the first in the history of the United States at which a British Premier was honored.

The stately rooms of the old colonial mansion were a blaze of light and color. The brilliant uniforms of members of the diplomatic corps and army and navy officers vied with the multitude of hues in the gowns of the women.

It was for this dinner that Vice-President Curtis and the British Ambassador, Sir Esmé Howard, waived their rank of precedence so the Prime Minister might occupy the guest of honor position next to Mrs. Hoover. The Vice-President also waived the precedence of his sister, Mrs. E. Gann, in favor of Lady Isabella Howard, the ranking British woman.

Through the foyer, where the red-carpeted Marine Band orchestra played scarcely loud enough to be heard beyond the front door, the arriving guests moved in pairs to the East Room, there to be met by the President and Mrs. Hoover. A golden brocade canopy against the wall between the north and south ends overhung the place where the guests of honor and others were received. The brief word of welcome and the formal introduction to the Premier and his daughter were the only preliminaries permitted by the short space of time between the arrival of the last guests and the entering of the dining hall.

The century-old, treasured possession of Dolly Madison, wife of President James Madison—her gold and mirrored centerpiece, graced the horseshoe table about which the guests were seated. Mrs. Hoover had brought into the table decorations and atmosphere of her native California. There were pink roses, snapdragons and ferns.

LIST OF GUESTS
The list of guests was announced at the White House in the following order, but it was explained this was not the order of seating.

Vice-President Charles Curtis and his sister and official hostess, Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann; Right Hon. Ramsay MacDonald and Miss Isabel MacDonald; the Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Isabella Howard; the Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L.

Stimson; the Canadian Minister and Mrs. Vincent Massey; Michael MacWhite, Minister of the Irish Free State; Associate Justice C. A. McReynolds of the United States Supreme Court; Lord Arnold, personal friend of Premier MacDonald; Sir Robert Vane Sittart, British Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs; Robert L. Craigie, head of the American division of the British Foreign Office; Thomas Jones, secretary to the Prime Minister.

FROM SENATE AND HOUSE
Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Mrs. Borah; Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader in the Senate; Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, Republican floor leader, and Mrs. Watson; Senator Frederick Hale of Maine, chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee; Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, president pro tempore of the Senate.

Representative Stephen H. Porter of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee; Representative John C. Tamm of Virginia, Republican leader in the House; Admiral Charles F. Hughes, Chief of Naval Operations, and Mrs. Hughes; Chief of the Army General Staff, and Mrs. Summerall.

FORMER SECRETARIES
Charles E. Hughes, former Secretary of State, and Mrs. Hughes; Frank B. Kellogg, former Secretary of State, and Mrs. Kellogg; Harry S. New, former Postmaster-General, and Mrs. New; William M. Jardine, former Secretary of Agriculture, and Mrs. Jardine.

Joseph P. Cotton, Under-Secretary of the Treasury, and Mrs. Cotton; Charles E. Hughes Jr., Solicitor-General of the United States; Walter H. Newton, administrative assistant to the President, and Mrs. Newton; George W. Wickham, chairman of the National Law Enforcement Commission and a former Attorney-General; William R. Castle Jr., Assistant Secretary of State, and Mrs. Castle; Patrick J. Hurley, Assistant Secretary of War, and Mrs. Hurley; Ernest L. Jahncke, Assistant Secretary of the Navy; Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, and Mrs. Klein.

Charles J. Rhoads, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, and Mrs. Rhoads; Alexander H. Houghton, former Ambassador to Great Britain, and Mrs. Houghton; John W. Davis, former Ambassador to Great Britain; and Mrs. Davis; Theodore Martineau, head of the State Department Division of Western European Affairs; Mr. and Mrs. Julius Barnes of New York; Edward F. McGrady of the American Federation of Labor; and Captain Allen Buchanan and Colonel Campbell B. Hodges, naval and military aides to the President.

Two Drowned And Five Reach Shore

Midland, Ont., Oct. 8.—Heroin of Moses Williams, their uncle, saved the lives of four children yesterday after the parents of three of them had been drowned before their eyes in Georgian Bay.

Swept by the waves from their capsized craft, Williams rescued the children one by one and brought them back to clinging to the slippery sides of the floating hull until they were rescued by Harry Gropp of Penetanguishene, who took them into his launch with difficulty.

The French scientist Lavoisier (who lived in that period) was the first to apply the thermometer and the balance to the study of the chemical changes taking place in the living body, according to Dr. E. V. McCollum. "Lavoisier established the fundamental fact that the production of heat involved the combination of the oxygen of the air with the substances taken into the body as food and was in fact a process of combustion," he says.

Dr. McCollum went on to say that Lavoisier also discovered that the temperature of the air had a pronounced influence on the rate at which this "burning" of food takes place. It is slow at temperatures which we find comfortable with light clothing, and is greatly accelerated by cold. This gives the clear reason why people living in a hot climate are lighter eaters than those living in a temperate climate.

Canadians are fairly large eaters for this reason. But are Canadians better nourished than the smaller eaters of the tropics? The size of the meal unfortunately does not regulate this point. The three meals which produce plenty of body "heat" may be badly lacking in other elements which are needed for rich blood, muscle and bone development.

The best plan is to eat every day some food which you know supplies these other needs. Millions of people are doing this in a most delicious way at breakfast. They find nothing more tempting than the crisp, golden kernels of Grape-Nuts with rich milk or cream. Grape-Nuts supplies to their bodies five of the vital elements of nutrition. These are: iron, for the blood; phosphorus, for teeth and bone; protein, for muscle and body-building; dextrins, maltose and other carbohydrates for energy; and the valuable vitamin-B.

MacDonald Is Applauded During Peace Speech to Congressmen of the U.S.

British Prime Minister, Given Honor of Addressing
Both Houses at Washington, Says Present Friendship of His Country and United States Makes War Unthinkable.

Washington, Oct. 8 (Canadian Press).—Yesterday was a day of triumph for Premier MacDonald—not only a personal one, but a triumph for the ideals he holds up. There can be no doubt Washington was profoundly stirred by the notable address to the United States Senate when the visiting British Prime Minister said of the Briand-Kellogg anti-war pact:

"We mean it to be the guiding idea in our policy.... There can be no war; nay, more, it is absolutely impossible if you and we do our best in making the peace pact effective that any section of our arms, whether land or sea or air, can ever come again into hostile conflict."

The Premier's words, especially his particularization of armaments, were taken by some as having more than ordinary significance, coming so soon after his week-end conference with the President at Mr. Hoover's summer camp in Virginia, and they were accepted by all as representing the Prime Minister's aim and desire. After the Senators broke into applause, sometimes led by William Borah, of Idaho, chairman of the foreign affairs committee.

ADDRESSING HOUSE
Before going to the Senate chamber, Mr. MacDonald visited the House of Representatives. When he mounted the dais, Representative Hadley, of Washington, made a few introductory remarks, after which the Premier briefly addressed the House, then stepping down and shaking hands with the members.

Upon his departure for the Senate Chamber the Premier was followed by many persons.

The Senate Chamber became silent as the statesman began his address. He spoke in a low tone at first, but frequently raised his voice to emphasize a point. He was interrupted at times by prolonged applause.

The session only at their desks listening attentively to the speech, members now and then leaning to their neighbors to comment on points in the address which impressed them. At the conclusion they joined in general applause and moved forward to shake the hand of the Premier.

The members of the Premier's party had to pass through a great crowd which had gathered at the Senate entrance to the White House, where the Prime Minister and his daughter lunched informally with the President and Mrs. Hoover.

Mr. MacDonald, starting his address to the Senate, said:

"Mr. President and Senators, I cannot say these words are unfamiliar to me. I have been here before; but when I sat in one of those galleries, having been brought here under the wing of the late Senator Rogers, I never whispered to me that one day, before I ceased from troubling, I should stand as I stand here and now facing you and receiving your goodwill and your help."

"I do not know what I can say, Mr. President, but you are overburdening me with your kind and your good wishes. I am sure that I shall have been so long in coming over."

PREMIER'S DUTIES
There are two functions the Prime Minister of Great Britain fills. First, he is the leader of his party and he is the head of a party government.

Secondly, he is a second function, far more important than the first, he represents his nation. He leads not only his party, but the House of Commons itself. In the second capacity, Mr. MacDonald, I have come here, and I have come here in the second capacity because deep down in my heart there is a conviction that nothing else will ever remove the many misunderstandings, small but so deplorable effects, that have grown up and, existing between us, do not belong to the substance of things, but belong to the appearance of substance and I have come, full of faith, to try to reduce misapprehensions to substance, because I know when that can be done the misunderstandings will be completely charmed away."

KELLOGG TREATY
"I have come in consequence of one great event and I believe will stand up like a monument in history. The event was the signing of the pact of peace in Paris—the pact of peace, the construction of which America played such a magnificent and such an honorable part."

"America united with France. Mr. Kellogg, alongside of M. Briand, gave the world this renewed hope and energy which is encouraging us to give our loins together with more determination than ever before and pursue the path of peace."

TAKEN AS GUIDE
"Where do I find the great difference between the old and that of that pact we signed it; others nations signed it. Did they mean, when they put their names, or the names of their representatives, at the bottom of that pact, did they mean it to be merely an impression on paper, or did they mean it to be a guiding idea in policy? We mean it to be a guiding idea in policy."

"Speakers in our country, and speakers in your country innumerable have said that war between the United States and Great Britain is unthinkable. I think, Senators of the United States, that declaration can be made now."

FOUNDATION OF PEACE
"There can be no war. Nay, more, it is absolutely impossible, if you and we do our duty in making the peace pact effective that any section of our arms, whether land or sea or air, can ever again come into hostile conflict."

"Think upon that when we face many of our own problems—problems of jealousy, problems of fear, problems of the young and the old, and successful generation put into the hearts of the old generation. They all disappear, and in virtue of the fact that they have disappeared, we have met together and we have said, 'War is all this bother about parity? Parity? Take it without reserve, heaped up and flowing over. That was the only condition under which competitive armaments could be stopped, and we could create a public psychology which could pursue the fruitful and successful avenues of peaceful co-operation."

DIRECT DISCUSSION
"That is one of the results of this visit. Another result of the visit is that we have come to understand each other. As long as you conduct your negotiations by correspondence over thousands of miles of sea, you will never understand each other at all. In these democratic days, when heart speaks to heart as deep as the old generation. They all disappear, and in virtue of the fact that they have disappeared, we have met together and we have said, 'War is all this bother about parity? Parity? Take it without reserve, heaped up and flowing over. That was the only condition under which competitive armaments could be stopped, and we could create a public psychology which could pursue the fruitful and successful avenues of peaceful co-operation."

"I did not mean, really, to deliver you a speech, I am afraid my remarks are rather developing into that. I really wanted to thank you—to thank you as the representative senators, especially this great country and this wonderful people—for your kindness and for your hospitality. But I must say that in the building up of those ideals you and I, meeting together here to-day, must remember the tremendous contributions that have been made by other people. We are not out for any exclusive alliance. You would reject it. So would I. It is not for the benefit of either of us."

THE NEW WAY
"In the old days when two people used to talk together all the other people used to put their hands up to their ears and say 'What are they saying?' They must be conspiring against us. That was the spirit of war, and that spirit must be extirpated."

In these days, when two nations talk together, it ought to give hope and confidence to the other nations of the world. We are not a nation of nations, we are a nation—neither you nor we—will form any exclusive alliances directed against the existence of the interests of any other nation or group of nations on the face of the earth."

"Our idea is the free, open, intellectually and spiritually attracted co-operation of friends. We are not a criminal conspiracy, to protect each other against policemen. We are a union of co-operation, a body—I doubt if there is the exact word in our English language—a co-operation, at any rate, of nations coming together, discussing together, living the open life in order to have an exchange of views, common action. Sometimes there is conflict of opinion. Why not? Conflict of opinion is a co-operation in the cause of peace when sane and honest men express that sort of co-operation—I do not like the word 'combination'—that sort of co-operation that sort of free, friendly relationship might be established not only between you and myself, not only between your country and my country, but between your country, my country and all the other civilized and honest countries under the face of the sun."

TRIBUTE TO WORK
"And we must pay our tribute to two great men who have helped on this work—first of all, M. Briand, that gay, genial, happy, humorous, eloquent man whose whole life has been devoted to the promotion of the cause of peace, and another, an old friend of mine, to praise whom alas at this moment is to lay a wreath upon his tomb—Gustav Stresemann."

"Many a story could I tell you," said Mr. MacDonald, "many a picture could I paint to you, of that quiet, steady, heroic man standing surrounded by enemies, not only abroad but at home, determined to play a perfectly straight game, determined to carry into practice the proverb that he who does not respect himself is respected by nobody else."

"I would think I might, here on this platform of the Senate, in this way paying my tribute to my dead friend, regard it as laying a wreath on his tomb."

"Thank you, thank you very much indeed, for the hearty reception you have given me and the patient way in which you have listened to me," concluded Premier MacDonald.

Flies Forced Down
At Saskatchewan Lake

Saskatoon, Oct. 8.—A message received here last night ended fears for the safety of a Buell air sedan of the Cherry Red Air Line, Prince Albert, which, with Alva Malone at the controls and G. A. MacDonald at the controls, and the latter's wife and two children as passengers, had been forced down at Montreal Lake Saturday.

Bound for Lac La Ronge, where Mr. Fisher was to take charge of the Anglican Indian School, the plane left the company's base at Christopher Lake, near Prince Albert, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, and was not heard of again until 6:30 o'clock last evening when Norman Cherry, superintendent of the company, received a message that the machine had made a forced landing at Montreal Lake and that all were safe.

OLD STUFF

THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY IN CANADA is traditionally the buttress of the British connection and the exponent of Empire patriotism.

The above paragraph is an extract from an article by its Canadian correspondent in the current issue of The Round Table, a quarterly review of the politics of the British Commonwealth published in London, dealing with the Canadian diplomatic service.

Like other contributions to this review, the author's name is not disclosed, nor do the publishers necessarily agree with or endorse what is accepted for publication. For some years, however, in spite of the fact that impartiality in the treatment of all subjects is considered essential to the publication of material supplied, Canadian topics often have been discussed in The Round Table from the Conservative standpoint, be the partisan tinge ever so faint.

There is nothing new in the contention of the Canadian correspondent of The Round Table. It is old stuff which has been used at intervals in defence of some special privilege for sixty years. But what never has been explained is the basis of the claim. What does stand out clearly, on the contrary, is the historical fact that the Conservative Party consistently has frowned upon almost every policy designed to strengthen the Imperial tie.

When Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Government in 1897 launched its tariff policy, which lowered the duties on British goods entering Canada, thereby giving concessions to the British exporter which enabled him to sell more of his wares to this country, it was denounced by the Conservative Party in the most scathing terms. Sir Charles Tupper's verbal picture of the desolation of Canadian industry which he predicted would follow the operation of the British Preference is an illustration of the kind of "buttress of the British connection" the Conservative Party has been.

What was the attitude of the Conservative Party to British trade and commerce during the war? It increased the duties British goods had to pay before they could reach the Canadian consumer. This was bad enough; it was a serious blow to the British producer and obliged the public of this country to pay more for these goods at a time when they were finding huge sums of money for Canada's share of the conduct of the war. But it also should be noted that the Conservative Party put this policy into operation just at a time when the British exporter had lost many of his markets through the depredations of enemy submarines, just at a time when the Canadian market—which he was able to reach much easier than other markets—would have helped him out.

How does the claim that the Conservative Party is the sole exponent of Empire patriotism fit in with that party's hostility to the trade treaties with the Antipodean Dominions, and with the British West Indies? The Conservative Party fought these agreements with all the weapons at its command. If it were elected to office—on the strength of statements made by its own members—they would be emasculated, which means that they would die a natural death, because this country already is enjoying very considerably the better of the bargain in each case.

It is hardly necessary to recall, incidentally, the policy the Conservative Party pursued in the general election of 1911. It entered into an alliance with the Nationalists of Quebec on a policy of opposition to the Canadian naval project—proposed by the Admiralty—on terms which the Nationalists themselves laid down. It won the election and paid for its victory by taking three Nationalists into its Government, throwing out the Canada Naval Act—which would have given this country efficient means of protecting itself in 1914—dismantling two training ships which had been acquired, and returning the tenders called for by the Laurier Government for the building in Canada of the ships called for by the Act. These tenders had been submitted by eleven British firms.

Fourteen years later, in the general election of 1925, Mr. Meighen, who then was leading the Conservative Party, declared himself as follows:

"If ever the time should come when the spectre of 1914 should again appear, I believe it would be best that the decision of the Government . . . should be submitted to the judgement of the people and a general election before troops should leave our shores."

The Canadian correspondent of The Round Table would have been correct in his statement if he had said that the Conservative Party in Canada is traditionally the lip-service buttress of both the British connection and Empire patriotism. When its pockets are touched, however, it is a horse of a very different color.

EGG PRODUCTION IN CANADA

THE TABLE OF PRODUCTION AND value of farm eggs in Canada for 1928 compared with the figures of the previous seven years is illuminating in many respects. It reveals in the clearest manner consistent and unbroken progress in the period. Unremitted attention paid to the industry and improvement in laying qualities has resulted in a steady increase in the average production per hen until it is to-day nearly twenty-two per cent greater than it was eight years ago. The number of egg-producing hens to be found on farms in Canada has increased by over thirty-two per cent, the total eggs produced by approximately sixty per cent and their value by substantially over 100 per cent.

The progress made recently in egg production has been very considerable. Imports of shell eggs in 1928 were about the equal of exports, the Dominion for the first time over a considerable span producing sufficient eggs to meet the country's domestic requirements. Consumption of eggs in Canada has increased very largely, the Dominion being the heaviest egg consumer per capita in the world, but production is rapidly coming to take care of this situation and the outlook in this regard is distinctly bright. In the early months of 1929 imports of eggs into Canada have been on the whole smaller than in the corresponding months of 1928, though it is to be noted also that exports are also correspondingly smaller.

Of outstanding interest and importance is the fact that British Columbia is now in a position to supply the fresh eggs of the prairie and central provinces of Canada for the greater part of the winter months, whereas formerly this territory was to a considerable extent dependent upon imports. British Columbia has made an almost spectacular advance in the poultry industry, having developed it to a place where it is worth more than the fruit and vegetable industry to the province and takes second place only to field crops in provincial agricultural revenue.

British Columbia holds ten world's records for egg production; the average production per hen in this province is forty-nine eggs per year more than that of any other province of Canada, while it is stated that there are more commercial poultry farms in this province than in all the rest of Canada, an indication of favorable climatic and marketing conditions. The marketing situation was recently much improved when the province came into line with other western provinces in the adoption of co-operative marketing and the establishment of stations for this purpose. In its task of supplying the rest of Canada with eggs in the winter months the prospect of the industry in British Columbia is very bright.

THOSE MANDATES

WHAT BRITAIN EVENTUALLY WILL do with the mandates of Palestine and Mesopotamia is a question which seems to be engaging the attention of the political world and a large section of the public that is looking for some departure by the MacDonald Government from the policy which its predecessors have followed in the last ten years. Viscount Rothermere has embarked upon a spirited newspaper campaign in which he demands that these mandates be handed back to the League of Nations—"or the Middle East may be our ruin!"

It is obvious that Viscount Rothermere intends to make an impression upon the minds of the ordinary people. He commences his principal article with the statement that "if any British statesman when the war ended had proposed that our Government should make a cash present of close on £100 (about $500) to every single man, woman and child living in the ex-enemy territories of Palestine and Mesopotamia, his friends would have sent him to a mental specialist. Yet, hardly more than ten years later, we have done it." He then proceeds as follows:

We have spent on these alien peoples £300,000,000 (about $1,500,000,000) of money taken straight from the pockets of British taxpayers. Through all the years that our industries have been languishing and much more than a million of our workers unemployed, this drain has ceaselessly continued. Never before have successive British Governments persisted with such costly obstinacy in a policy of complete and proved futility. Since 1920, when we allowed the League of Nations to pile these absurd "mandates" on our shoulders, no single British statesman has had courage and common sense enough to face facts which are obvious to everyone. Will the Labor Government do this now? If they free us from our wretched entanglements in the Middle East, their reward will be national gratitude ten times as strong as they earned by their energetic conduct at The Hague.

Viscount Rothermere discusses at length the economic, racial and religious aspects, and concludes by saying that not one in a thousand of the Britons whose money is being so freely spent has the least idea of what "we are doing in these remote uncivilized countries" where Britain is responsible for the rule and defence of 3,500,000 Arabs and 150,000 Jews—7,000 miles, by sea, away.

NO COMFORTS

A RECENT TITLED VISITOR, AFTER seeing Canada for the most part from the window of a railway train, complained that this country lacked comforts. Somebody ought to send him a paragraph which appeared in a recent issue of The Kamloops Sentinel. This says that the number of telephones in that city is now 1,658, an increase of 119 over September of last year.

Kamloops is a community of a little more than 5,000 population. Where is the town in the whole of the British Isles of 5,000 people with 1,658 telephones?

Incidentally, the power, lighting and water systems of Kamloops are far superior to those of most towns of double its size on the other side of the Atlantic.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

Heaven knows best, but it would be nice if some of these imported insect pests liked dandelions.—Pasadena Post.

A GREAT CANADIAN MARINER

The Hamilton Herald

It is not generally known, as it should be, especially in this Dominion, that Sir Samuel Cunard, the founder of the big shipping line, was a Canadian. His father was of Quaker origin, Father Abraham, in fact, and he moved after the revolution from Philadelphia to Halifax, Nova Scotia, where Samuel was born on November 21, 1797.

Canada has many great achievements to her credit, but Sir Samuel Cunard's should not be forgotten among them. He laid the pathless track across the Atlantic which has been followed by so many floating cities in our time. He lived to realize something of what it meant to the world, for his life extended into the lives of many of us, dying as he did on April 30, 1895. The westward trek of vast populations has been facilitated by his presence, and like a Moses of Maritime, he has led multitudes into a promised land flowing with milk and honey, but richer by far than any land that Pisgah overlooked.

Some considerations concerning the talkies and democracy—eminent Victorians and changing ways—the Great Lama of Tibet—Historical Reputations and things like that.

By H. B. W.

THE RECENT appearance of Premier Ramsay MacDonald, his entire Cabinet, Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Baldwin and other eminent people in the talkies is interesting, not so much as revealing an advance in the mechanics of our age as indicating vital change in our whole system of government. If the talkies had been invented fifty years ago they might have been just as perfect technically as they are now, but they would never have carried the picture and the voice of the British Prime Minister to the four corners of the earth. In those days the camera man who offered to record the British Prime Minister would have been received with the same frigid air of outrage which recently greeted the camera man who wanted to make a talkie of the Christ Church Cathedral consecration here.

IN THOSE days eminent Victorians were not supposed to be accessible to the masses. They locked themselves up in places like Number 10 Downing Street, where the eyes of the vulgar could not penetrate. If you wanted to vote for them you could, and if you didn't you weren't a loyal citizen, but in either case you were not supposed to see the man you voted for, except at a respectful distance. Government in those times was based on the theory that the less the governed knew of the government the better for him—an attitude, one suspects, which was not unassociated with the apprehension that familiarity might breed contempt on the voter's part. On the government's part the contempt existed anyhow.

THINGS ARE different now, but the talkies did not change them. They merely recorded the change that had already taken place. To-day the most eminent man does not hesitate to be photographed and recorded. Mr. MacDonald introduces his whole Cabinet to the camera, in a picture shown here recently. Mr. Lloyd George accents a little pastoral drama with a large shaggy dog in his country home and ends up with a fervent plea for British-American friendship. Mr. Baldwin delivers an election speech on the lawn of Number 10 half a dozen times, with all facial expressions and gestures of the hands repeated laboriously in order that at last a satisfactory recording may be achieved. Even the King has made a talkie, and the Pope, the most inaccessible man in Christendom, has been seen in the movies. The only eminent figure who has not been immortalized in celluloid, indeed, seems to be the Great Lama of Tibet, and one of these days an enterprising camera man will penetrate to his mountain home and record his prayers to Buddha.

GREATNESS thus is being humanized. Skeptics of the old school school will say that when greatness is brought down from its pedestal respect for it will perish, that an average voter cannot ever think of a prime minister again as a superman when he sees him in a rather grotesque close-up looking about as self-conscious and foolish as anyone else would under similar conditions.

THE OPPOSITE, however, probably will be the result. When the voter sees that he is being governed by a human being who feels like an idiot when he talks into an unresponsive little device called a microphone, he will begin to think that politicians are not such a bad lot after all. In the era of the talkies the old attitude of mute reverence for statesmanship will be impossible, but in its place there may be a spirit of interest and co-operation between governments and governed.

THE TALKIES, besides, will absolutely revolutionize the teaching of history to the generations who come after us. When our grandchildren come to studying the post-war world they will be able to see and hear our current statesmen and judge them as we cannot judge any of the characters of history who have gone before us. While we can only read Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg, they will be able to hear Mr. MacDonald views on disarmament almost from his own lips. To them the history of our day will be a living thing while to us the events of our father's time, at best, are a hazy tale.

HAD THE talkies been invented 5,000 years ago the whole course of history would have been changed. Reputations now foremost in our history books would have been destroyed and obscure men elevated to their just places. Perhaps we would have found Socrates, a rather boring old man, on the screen. Alexander would probably have turned out to be an intolerably conceited ass and Caesar an extremely dull fellow, not half so amusing as some young rakes like Alcibiades or Antony. And one would pay any admission to hear the eighth Henry's advice to those about, to be married.

WHAT A TALKIE they would have made when the directors, scene shifters and cameramen had arranged to record the waves rushing back from King Canute and instead the waves rushed the wrong way and wrecked the whole set. The lives of the ancient Kings of England, would have provided in full measure all the bloodshed, mystery, poisonings, hangings, murderings, neckings, divorces, love tests, tangled webs, and the other equipment essential to every successful film masterpiece of our time.

EMPIRE HEALTH WEEK

Co-operating with the Royal Sanitary Institute of London, England, in Empire Health Week, Dr. Richard and Feltton, City Health Officer, issued the following statement to-day:

"Your business prosperity depends on your health."

"But not only on your own personal health. How about the comfort, well-being and cheerfulness of your employees? Do you pause often enough to think of their health? Study the conditions of their day's work, in the office, in the store, the packing room, the restaurant kitchen. Give them adequate heat and ventilation, proper toilet facilities, opportunities of resting and a cheery word."

"You, as well as they, would expect comfortable conditions at home. Make it so at work also. Keep your back premises as you would your home front garden."

"Better employment conditions mean a greater turnover."

"Industrial hygiene is a business-paying proposition."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, October 8, 1904

The Liberal convention held in the Philharmonic Hall last evening was the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in the City of Victoria. There were 633 admitted at the door. There was manifested a spirit which assured victory for the party at the coming election. George Riley was the unmistakable choice of the convention as the standard-bearer, and he might well feel, as he afterwards expressed it, very proud of the confidence thus expressed in him.

The thirteenth anniversary of the Centennial Methodist Church will be marked by special services next Sunday. Members of the congregation have decorated the auditorium with flowers and evergreens, the effect being charming. In the morning an address will be delivered by Rev. S. D. Chown, D.D., of Toronto, and in the evening Rev. R. J. McIntyre of Victoria West will occupy the pulpit.

Yesterday afternoon the students of the Victoria High School gathered in the assembly room to conduct commencement exercises. A few parents and friends were in attendance.

The annual Garrison sports, which took place on the parade grounds at Work Point barracks yesterday afternoon, attracted crowds of soldiers and civilians.

A meeting of the Ladies' Hockey Club was held the other evening, when officers were elected as follows: Captain, Miss Nason; vice-captain, Miss D. Sehl; secretary-treasurer, Miss W. Wilson; committee, including the officers, Misses Baine, Hardie, Leeming and Bowron.

Battery of By-laws Keep City Astir

Zoning, Shops' Closing, Signs and Sidewalks Engage Council

Zoning Measure Becomes Irksome, City Fathers Are Told

The annual fall movement in by-laws was initiated by the City Council last night, with a review in whole or in part of three new measures and some not so new. The Zoning By-law came in for early debate, when a special zoning committee declined to approve of a suggested gas station permit for a site at the northeast corner of Blanshard and Courtney Streets, asked for by the British Columbia Lands Investment Agency.

The committee, it was explained by Alderman W. T. Strath, had sat with but two members, himself and Alderman H. O. Litchfield. They had failed to agree, and so no report was possible other than a reference back to the council.

POSITION UNFATENABLE

The city's position in regard to the zoning of semi-business properties had become unfatenable, submitted Alderman H. O. Litchfield. The site in question had contributed thousands of dollars in taxation to the city, and now that revenue-generating possibilities were sought, the relief was denied. He was conscious that every care had been taken in the preparation of the zoning by-law, but public meetings had been called and opinions asked, but the result was disappointing and threatened to become more so. He would like to see a reconsideration of the status of semi-business property, and the provision of a special classification for this type of holding, he stated in conclusion.

WANTS YEAR'S TRIAL

Alderman E. S. Woodward said he did not doubt the present by-law was defective, but so would any other by-law be that the city cared to pass on the same subject. Short of a complete revision of the whole question of zoning, after twelve months' experience, he did not approve of any change being made. In regard to the application for the gas station, he could not favor that, stated Mr. Woodward. The council voted down the application without further debate.

SMALL SIGNS FREE

Turning to the amendments to the established building code, the council specified four square feet as the maximum size of signs, free from permits and fees. Over that area owners will have to take out permits for the erection of the larger signs, and pay a fee of $1 for the privilege, the council decided. Final action on the amending by-law was deferred.

A by-law to repeal the 20-80 ratio in regard to local improvement means of building sidewalks receive first reading without debate. The measure is one in repeal of a by-law passed in 1920, and little used now. The city now operates on a 40-60 ratio, on a cash in advance system.

NO CHANGE ASKED

Alderman E. S. Woodward, asking for the introduction of a by-law to compel department stores to close at 9 o'clock on Saturdays, failed to convince his colleagues that such a measure had been requested by the trade itself. The suggested by-law was tabled to see if the enactment, or rather, required, to meet changed conditions locally.

The F. W. Woolworth Company and

CATARRAH DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises so to your disgust and eat 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and 1/2 pint of sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises as the clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus step dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone having hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

the Metropolitan Chain Stores were cited to the council as examples of premises remaining open until 9 p.m. on Saturdays, in the absence of restrictive measures. The council took the view that there was nothing before it requesting the change suggested, and that passage of a by-law without some direct request would be precipitate.

SIGN BY-LAW AGAIN

The sign by-law, dealing with the regulation, lighting, insuring and other control of overhanging signs, formulated in July last, was reintroduced, but ran into early resistance.

Was the by-law necessary, it was asked by Alderman R. A. C. Dewar. Replying, E. L. Wilson, city wiring inspector, said it was, and that objections had been made to obscuring signs, and lack of regulation of the privilege.

For a while the council gave desultory discussion to some of the six-five clauses of the measure as now drafted; changed the compulsory lighting hours from one half hour after dusk to 10 o'clock, to read from the same time until 11 o'clock, and then tabled the by-law for one week.

Alderman E. S. Woodward proposed that all signs be made flush with the buildings, as this, he said, enhanced the appearance of city streets, and became less of a nuisance than projecting signs. The point was not discussed, as the council elected to table the measure and pass on to other business. After a two-and-a-half-hour session, the council adjourned.

NO SEPARATE SCHOOL

Regina, Oct. 8.—A petition presented by Roman Catholics at Wawak, Sask., asking that they be allowed to form a separate school has been refused by Premier J. T. "It is the desire of the Government that peace be brought about in the Wawak school district," the Premier said, "and this will not come by allowing a division which under the act would be illegal."

CHINA TRADE WILL INCREASE

L. C. Dyer, Missouri Congressman, Back From Investigating Orient Trade Was Responsible For China Trade Acts Passed By U.S. Congress

Leonidas C. Dyer, Congressman from the State of Missouri, who has been to China and the Philippines to investigate trade developments, returned here yesterday aboard the American Mail liner President Taft, well satisfied with business prospects as he found them in the countries of the Far East.

"Things look much better in China and I am satisfied there will be a great increase in trade with that country from this time forward," said Mr. Dyer just before he left his suite on the bridge deck to take breakfast.

MADE THOROUGH SURVEY

He said he had made a thorough survey of general conditions in the Orient during the last two months and he was impressed by the manner in which China was getting down to bedrock.

Mr. Dyer explained that he was responsible of the China Trade Acts put through the United States Congress to authorize and govern the formation of companies to trade with China. In view of that fact he was naturally interested in trade developments pertaining to China and had gone to that country to see things for himself.

Accompanied by Mrs. Dyer he left San Francisco on July 5 last by the liner President Grant and visited all the treaty ports.

CAREER IN CONGRESS

Mr. Dyer, as a Republican, was a member of the sixty-second Congress from 1911 to 1913. He received his certificate of election to the sixty-third Congress, but was unseated after a partisan contest.

He was a member of the sixty-fourth to the sixty-eighth Congresses, from 1915 to 1925, for the twelfth Missouri district.

With the rank of Colonel, Mr. Dyer served on the staff of Governor Hadley of Missouri and saw service in the Santiago campaign of the Spanish-American war.

He was commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War Veterans from 1915 to 1916.

He practiced law in 1903 at St. Louis, Mo., and was assistant circuit attorney in that city in 1909.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyer returned with a new conception of things in the Orient and said they had enjoyed the tour immensely. They left by the President Taft this morning for Seattle en route to their home in Missouri.

WEATHER HURT FAIR RECEIPTS

B.C. Agricultural Association Present Report on Finances to City

A tentative statement on the financial results of the annual provincial exhibition at the Willows was filed with the City Council last night by the B.C. Agricultural Association. The statement showed that, after all debts had been paid, the sum of $5,349 remained in hand for the year.

This was a very creditable showing, commented Alderman H. O. Litchfield, who said from a weather standpoint the association had faced the worst handicap in ten years. The Winter Garden Revue had shown a deficit of $3,482, he said, but this was due to the weather conditions, and the revue had helped to swell general gate receipts.

Alderman J. L. Macra drew the attention of the council to the fact that the association had started the current year with a balance of $6,000 in hand.

The association had made every effort to please, and receipts would have been less if the action taken to induce attendance had not been carried out, stated Alderman E. S. Woodward, in defence of the showing made by the exhibition this year.

The statement, which will be followed by audited and final account, showed $42,250 as the gross budget for the season; prize awards totalling $19,401; and total receipts of $36,136. The Winter Garden Revue was secured on a contract price of $3,200 and its receipts as segregated were $861, and its deficit $4,651. This figure would be offset to some extent by higher general receipts, it was conceded. The report was received, pending the final account.

W. H. Meerna, who has been reappointed managing secretary for the year 1929-30, had advised against the inclusion of the revue, it was stated.

Light Keepers Will Get Annual Vacation With Pay, Civil Servants Told

The fight of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada for annual leave with pay for lighthouse keepers has been successful, it was reported at the meeting of the Victoria local council held last night in the Provincial Civil Servants' clubrooms.

In future, the meeting was told, the lightkeepers will receive leave and will not have to pay a substitute.

Ten new members, including several Department of Health employees at the quarantine station, were enrolled in the organization.

SCALPED YOUTH IS RECOVERING

Howard Gibson Makes Good Progress; May Bear Few Marks

Howard Gibson is making excellent progress towards recovery from the serious injuries suffered yesterday in an accident at the new addition to the Empress Hotel, Wilfrid Gibson, his father, this morning informed the Times, after a visit to the St. Joseph's Hospital, where the injured youth is a patient.

It is hoped that, considering the injuries to face and scalp inflicted, the young man will be comparatively lightly marked, after time has had opportunity to supplement the notable work now being achieved by skillful surgery.

LOGGER HOLDS STRENGTH

Kinoshita, Japanese logger who was injured yesterday at Sooke, is waging a strong battle for life at St. Joseph's Hospital, despite much pain caused by a crushed kidney.

FALL VICTIM PROGRESSES

J. Cruickshank, roofer, injured yesterday by a fall from a fire escape at the Mount Edwards Apartments, is progressing favorably at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, but is unable to move as a result of severe bruises inflicted on his back.

British Leaders Protest Increase In the Bank Rate

London, Oct. 8 (Canadian Press Cable).—The higher bank rate (6 1/2 per cent) established by the Bank of England is criticised in an economic survey which is being sent to Premier Ramsay MacDonald and Right Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, by the Conference of Industrial and Commercial Organizations. Many prominent industrialists are among the signatories to the survey, which declares that finance, "instead of being the handmaiden of the producing trades, is their master."

"Our ability to produce at competitive prices has to be sacrificed in order to suit the convenience of the present monetary policy," the report says. It asserts that an increase of one per cent in the bank rate for a year costs $125,000,000, while the Bank of England's gold reserves are increased thereby by only $100,000,000.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MARY McFARLANE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

THE CHILD WHO IS BACKWARD IN SPEAKING

It is so entertaining to the parent of a bright child to hear him chatter that one can't blame the parent for being upset and anxious when his own child is past the age when he should be speaking, and still insists on making himself understood by grunts and gestures rather than civilized language.

It isn't surprising in some families that children are slow to talk. Mothers do a lot of talking to their babies. A certain amount of talking is a necessary stimulant to the child, too much of it is a discouragement. The mother who asks the child questions, who wants him to recite rhymes and count up to ten and tell his name and where he lives, is putting such a burden on the child that his one defence is to say nothing.

There is no fun for the child in answering questions. He wants to ask them, not answer them. He may have been talking well and then suddenly stops, and refuses to say a word. Instead of calling him stubborn and stupid and feeling that he is "diffident" the mother should keep a close watch of her own speech and that of the neighbors and relatives and notice how much they are demanding of the child.

There is nothing that will so quickly cause speechlessness in the child who has formerly been talking freely as the adult demands that he tell who he is and he is a good boy and what is his doggie's name and is his mother good to him and does he love her? In this case, the child makes no effort to speak because by experience he has learned that speech has so many unpleasant aftermaths.

This is one reason why a child in a talkative and demanding family grows all efforts to make him speak with cold silence. There are other reasons.

He may be hard of hearing, so that he cannot learn to speak because he has no pattern upon which to build speech; he may have been slow in developing physically because of rickets or some serious illness in which case his speech would likewise be deferred; he may be the member of a doting family who give such prompt response to his slightest gesture that speech is entirely unnecessary; or he may be a placid child who is allowed to sit all day in his bed or go-cart and is given a doll or a toy to play with and is seldom talked to. The happens all too often when a good-natured baby is left to the care of a nurse who prefers reading to talking to the baby.

Then there are those cases in which the child is mentally backward. Even the blindest parents must recognize when her child belongs to this type for there are so many other indications of his backwardness that his mental limitations are certain to be noted.

For Mothers—"FRY'S"

For true nourishment in a delicious form, FRY'S Cocoa is supreme. A cup at breakfast-time to help through the day, and another at bedtime will help both mother and baby to enjoy sound restful sleep. GOLCONDA MILL RUNS AT CAPACITY

Ore Body Opens 700 Feet on the 1,400 Level; Big Programme Under Way

Wallace, Idaho, Oct. 8.—Programme of development announced recently by Golconda Lead Mines is now under way and should be completed within the time estimated by the directors, which is between six and eight months. The raise from the 1,400 level to the 1,000 level, which will be the form part of the shaft which will be extended 600 feet below the 1,400, or to a total depth of 2,000 feet. From the 1,400 a raise is being extended eighty feet to provide for the head-frame and from the station west of the hoist a cable raise will be extended on an incline to the top of the head-frame to accommodate the cables from the hoist to the shaft. The shaft is also being broken along the east side of the shaft raise to provide skip pockets, from which ore will be drawn direct to the shaft. When the shaft is completed, enlarging and timbering the shaft down to the 1,400 level will be taken up and by the time the new hoist is installed everything will be in readiness to start sinking from the 1,400 level.

The showing of ore on the 1,400 level is impressive and confirms reports heretofore published as to the width of the ore shoot and its grade. The showing of ore in both the east and west faces is the best so far disclosed on that level. The feature of it is the three streaks of clean high-grade lead silver in each face, aggregating from eighteen inches to two feet. This high-grade is of two types, fine steel galena of a rather pale color and the other glistening cube galena. A sample of the latter assayed 81.3 ounces in silver per ton, 82.2 per cent lead and 0.6 per cent zinc. The steel galena contained 98 ounces of silver, 82.2 per cent lead and 0.4 per cent zinc. This remarkable ore shoot is now reported 700 feet long on the 1,400-foot level, with ore in both faces, full width of the drift. The ore goes direct to the mill without sorting, making a mill feed that runs from 6 ounces in silver, 7 per cent lead and 5 per cent zinc, to 8 ounces in silver, 10 per cent lead and 7 per cent zinc.

Operation at Golconda mill is maintained at capacity of 300 tons a day and shipments to customers are expected to take care of the large outlay that is being made along with the usual operating expenses. In addition to the underground plans now being carried out, a new compressor of large capacity is to be installed and the final step in the Golconda expansion programme will be to double the capacity of the mill.

A TIME PROVEN MEDICINE for the LIVER AND KIDNEYS

For nearly half a century these pills have been for sale in drug stores and known to the general public.

For at least a generation before that they were used extensively in the medical practice of a celebrated physician.

Their value was proven to the public by the giving away of millions of samples. Now they are universally known to the medical profession and to the public generally and are found in the great majority of homes.

Since the sale of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is continually increasing, we believe that this is the best proof of their medical value and of the way they are appreciated by the people who use them.

REGULATES THE LIVER

Medical men often refer to the liver as the governor of the human system and blame the liver for many human ills which affect the digestive system.

When healthy and active, the liver filters the poisonous bile from the blood and passes it into the intestines where it acts as a cathartic to regulate the action of the bowels.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act very promptly and very directly on the liver. They quickly arouse the torpid sluggish action of the liver and thereby relieve biliousness, headache, dizzy feelings, indigestion and all the distressing symptoms which accompany liver complaint.

AROUSES THE KIDNEYS

Kidney troubles usually result from chronic liver derangements. The blood is overloaded with poisons and in an effort to purify the blood, the kidneys break down and the poisons go through the system, resulting in backache, lumbago, rheumatism and other painful and dangerous diseases.

It is not sufficient to treat the kidneys. Medical treatment must also awaken the action of the liver and bowels.

Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills do this very thing they are most effective in relieving disorders of the kidneys.

Their combined and direct action on these great filtering systems of the human body accounts for their remarkable success.

RELIEVES CONSTIPATION

The evils of constipation scarcely need explanation. There is no greater rule of health than "Daily Movement of the Bowels." In this way only can the human system be thoroughly rid of poisonous impurities.

There is no more effective treatment for constipation than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The action of this medicine is prompt and effective. This is why so many thousands of people depend on Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a regulator of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

Even when you are not ill, it is a good rule to take one pill at bedtime once a week in order to ensure the health and activity of these organs. This will keep you feeling well and add years to your life.

OVERCOMES THESE SYMPTOMS

Some of the common symptoms arising from derangements of these organs are:—

Headache, Coated Tongue, Fickle Appetite and Indigestion, Feelings of weight about the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Depressed Spirits and Irritable Temper, Irregularity of Bowels, Loss of Weight, Kidney Disorders, Tired, Languid Feelings.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are for sale by all dealers in medicines and are manufactured by The Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Canada.

Thousands Wait All Night For Chance To See Series

THE SPORTS MIRROR

TORCHY PEDEN is at it again. The big red-topped Victoria boy broke into the six-day bicycle racing game at Montreal last week and proved himself one of the best by finishing with his partner, Bill Cole, of Bradford, Ont., in second position. This time start should give Torch a good boost along the line of his chosen profession of cycle racing. Ever since he packed up his grips here and left for the East to turn his ability into cash, Bill has been going great guns. It would not be surprising to see him pitted against the world's best in the six-day stuff in the near future.

The ancient spitballer, Jack Quinn, world series, according to Connie Mack. Many baseball experts would rather depend upon Jack Quinn than Rube Waberg, even though Rube is a mighty fine pitcher.

Waberg is a nervous type, and the strain of a championship would make him all the more fidgety. If Waberg starts a game in this series, it is not unlikely that Quinn will finish it for him.

The Cubs have displayed keen distaste for spitball pitching. Take as an example the success of Burleigh Grimes against them. Grimes has beaten the Cubs five times this year, and they have not picked him once. Stephenson, Hack Wilson and Cuyler could do nothing with the wet ones Mr. Grimes flung past them.

Quinn is old, but his spitball is as young as ever. Added to that, Jack is calm under fire, and you don't have to worry about him filling the bases by walking batters.

A cheque and request for thirty reserved seats at the opening game of the world series in Chicago were sent to William Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, by the president of an important financial house. The writer of the letter is a "personal friend" of Mr. Wrigley's.

Two days later the applicant received back his cheque and request with this note:

"Mr. Wrigley has nothing to do with the disposal of tickets for the world series."

Thereupon the cheque and request were sent to President William Veck of the Cubs, a former newspaperman. Again the cheque and request were returned, with this notation:

"No purchaser is to receive more than two tickets. This rule will not be broken for any one."

How in the world is the president of a big financial house going to see this series, anyway?

Over at Wiesbaden the unheard of has occurred. Dr. Alekhine, chess champion, has thrown caution to the wind, and even when he could be sure of a draw has staked everything on daring manoeuvres in a fighting game for either victory or defeat.

This promises to cut down the average duration of a game of chess from thirteen months to about five. Such speed is half-raising.

It used to be two or three months before anybody knew a chess match was going on. This was known as the "warning-up" period and sometimes one or two moves were made during that time, just to let the innocent bystander know the players were not really asleep after all.

Mrs. Forbes Wilson Wins Medal Honors in Victoria Club Tourney

Mrs. Philbrick, City Champion, Slips on Two Holes and Is Second

With a card of 85, two strokes better than her nearest competitor, Mrs. F. Forbes Wilson captured the medal honors in "A" class of the Victoria Golf Club women's championship which commenced yesterday at Oak Bay Links.

After a bad start, which included 6's on the first two holes, Mrs. Wilson steadied down and played an excellent game. She negotiated the first nine holes in 42 and came home in 43, completing the course ten over women's par.

Mrs. B. R. Philbrick, women's city champion, was runner-up for medal honors with 87. Seven on the twelfth and thirteenth holes resulted in her exclusion from medal honors after she had turned in a nice 41 for the first nine holes.

Scores of 107 and better qualified Mrs. K. C. Allen with 28 was third and Mrs. Hutchinson and Mrs. Godfrey were tied at 91 for fourth position.

MATCH PLAY STARTS
Match play in "B" section opened this morning, while the "A" section competition got under way early this afternoon. The first sixteen in each section are fighting it out for the two championships.

Following are the two low cards in the qualifying round:

FAST TIME SET BY SUN BEAU

Wins $25,000 Handicap at Hawthorne in 4-5 Seconds Less Than Sarazen's Record

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Reeling off the third fastest mile and a quarter ever raced in America, Sun Beau, great four-year-old son of Sun Briar, beautiful Lady, won the $25,000 Hawthorne gold cup yesterday before 25,000 yelling fans, the largest crowd that ever saw a race at the historic Hawthorne course. The winner was ridden by Frankie Goltzetti.

Sun Beau, almost an 8 to 1 shot in the betting, ran the distance in 2:01 3/5. Whiskbroom II is credited with running the fastest mile and a quarter ever raced, when he stepped the distance in 2:00 flat, carrying 139 pounds, at Belmont Park, June 28, 1913.

This performance was disputed because of the claim that the time was gained on the wrong finishing line. In 1924 Sarazen, carrying 130 pounds, reeled off a mile and a quarter at Lexington in 2:00 4/5 when he won from the French invader, Epinard.

Sun Beau, owned by Willis Sharpe Kilmer of Binghamton, New York, and carrying 128 pounds, beat the western champion, Mistletoe, to the wire by a length and a half, with Diabolo as the favorite, another mile handicap star, third, four lengths behind Mistletoe.

Brown Wisdom was fourth; Karl Ritel, the entry of Alderman John J. Ritz, fifth; and Diabolo, coupled with Diabolo as the Wheatley entry in the betting, a distant sixth. The small but classy field of seven original starters was reduced to six by the withdrawal of Blackwood.

Overlooked in the betting, Sun Beau rewarded his backers with $17,340 to win the $2 mutuels. His place price was $7.22. He paid $3.22 to show. Mistletoe paid $4.85 and $2.56 to show, while Diabolo paid $2.90 to show.

The Brains Behind the Brawn of Contending World Series Teams

CONNIE MACK
Manager Philadelphia Athletics

The goal for which these two baseball pilots have been steering their craft during the last season will be realized very soon—for one of them. Both brought their teams out on top much the best in the regular league schedule and to-day pit their brains against each other in the greatest baseball test of the year. The series this fall has taken on a much more interesting aspect for baseball fans owing to the fact that the New York Yankees have no finger in the pie. During the last few years it looked as if New York had gained a strangle hold on world series affairs and everybody started to think it was no use trying to beat the Yanks, so they took up golf. The old "master mind," Cornelius McGillicuddy showed them where they were wrong, however, and left Babe Ruth and his fellow sluggers far behind in the league race. This week he hopes to demonstrate to Dr. McCarthy just how good are his Athletics although the latter expressed himself of the opinion that Wm. Wrigley Jr.'s million dollar team is the best.

JOE MCCARTHY
Manager Chicago Cubs

Every appearance he made in the home stretch, I am sure both Mack and McCarthy have been much worried about the ineffectiveness of their aces.

FAVORS ATHLETICS
I favor the Athletics to win the world series. I like the pitching of the American League champions a trifle better than the National leaguers even though the Cubs have a most formidable array of twirlers. Pitching invariably dominates the series and I look for the Mackmen to show the edge in this department. I am inclined to think the series will go six games, possibly seven.

In favoring the pitching of the Athletics, I am well aware that two of Mack's stars are left-handers and that southpaws have not been uniformly successful against the Cubs. However, I doubt if any club in the majors can offer two portlanders who come even close to what Mack has to offer in Grove and Waberg. They are somewhat different. Each possesses terrific speed and a sharp breaking curve.

EARNshaw WILL BE JINX
Few pitchers in the National League have been more successful against Chicago than "Daisy" Vance. He counts it a bad day when he doesn't whiff eight or more Cubs in a game. As a rule, he holds the sluggers of the Cubs in the hollow of his hand. If Chicago has found Vance tough, then there is every reason to believe that the Cubs will find Earnshaw almost as hard to beat. Earnshaw is the closest approach to Vance in the majors. He will use more speed than Vance does and while his curve isn't quite as sharp as the Brooklyn star, the Chicago batters will find he has plenty on the ball.

On form, Chicago will depend entirely on right-handed pitching. Curveball pitching naturally hovers a few swinging club and the Athletics must be so listed. Cub pitchers spell in curves. A deceptive curve makes Simmons, the San Francisco winner, a dangerous pitcher for a club looking for a club oolking at him for the first time; Jack Quinn of spitball fame, and the rookie Shores, who has done some great rescue work for the Mackmen this season.

Three things will decide the 1929 world series—pitching, the breaks and courage. I like the Athletics' pitching a trifle the best. No one can figure the breaks in advance, neither is it possible to gauge courage before the real test. It will be two green teams in the series and one or both may break under the strain.

I favor the Athletics to win and look for the series to go six or seven games. However, like my very good friend, Hughie Fullerton, I may be as wrong as when he picked Washington to win the American League pennant and Cleveland to finish last. If so, there is no harm done, just another so-called expert gone wrong.

Stars and Reds Start Fight For Coast Pennant
San Francisco, Oct. 8.—Led by the mighty Ike Boone, leading batsman and foremost home run hitter of the Pacific Coast League, the San Francisco Seals lined up here to-day against the Hollywood Stars in the opening game of the post-season series for the 1929 pennant.

SLEEP ON BOXES, CHAIRS AND COTS OUTSIDE PARK

Pedestrian Traffic Around Wrigley Field in Chicago Forced to Middle of Streets as Crowds Jam Sidewalks Waiting for "Rush" Seats to Go on Sale; Scalpers Do Little Business But Vendors of Beds, Boxes and Food Reap Rich Reward; Athletics Still Slight Favorites.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Weary-eyed, weary-legged—some certain of success, others merely hopeful—approximately 9,000 baseball fans to-day awoke and stretched, or merely stretched, as the ticket windows at Wrigley Field opened to sell 8,000 temporary bleacher seats and 2,500 grandstand standing room admissions for the first game between the Cubs and Athletics for the world championship.

The line, or lines, started to form yesterday, increasing through the day and night until pedestrians interested in other affairs than championship baseball games were forced to walk up the middle of the streets adjoining Wrigley Field, to get to where they were going.

"QUICK RETURNS" BY PITCHERS ARE BARRED IN SERIES
Chicago, Oct. 8.—All questions of baseball rules interpretation were thrashed out before the start of play in the first game of the world series to-day and instructions issued to govern the umpires.

There will be no "quick returns" by pitchers and umpires will disallow the balls before putting them in play, both in Chicago and Philadelphia.

Conditions in the two playing fields cause one change. At Chicago it, a pitched ball strikes the backstop or screen in front of the stand and remains within the field of play, a base runner may advance as many bases as he can make.

A ball going into the stands or a dugout when thrown to first or third by a pitcher in an effort to catch a base runner napping will permit an advance of two bases.

If a fairly batted ball bounds into a stand on foul territory it will be a two-base hit.

The rules as to interference with batted balls by spectators also were clarified.

CHICAGO FANS SET RECORD FOR ATTENDANCE
Chicago, Oct. 8.—Chicago baseball fans appropriated a record attendance to the extent of 1,485,000 paid admissions during the regular campaign, a new major league record.

The mark fell somewhat short of the 1,500,000 attendance record, President W. L. Veck hoped to set but was more than 200,000 better than the previous standard set by the 1927 Cubs.

No Interruption Of Seattle Bout; Officials Agree
Seattle, Oct. 8.—An injunction restraining county officials from stopping boxing bouts will be continued in effect to-day, John J. Sullivan, attorney for Austin and Bishop promoters, and Deputy Prosecutor Ralph A. Hammer mutually agreed last night.

Tommy Gardner six-round bout will be held here this evening.

A hearing on the injunction restraining county officials from stopping the Leo Lomski-Jack Willis bout last Tuesday will be held later in the week. It was to have been held to-day, but inability of the state to subpoena necessary witnesses resulted in a continuance.

MONOGRAM CHANGED
The National League champions were adorned in brightly uniformed monogram on the shirt changed to show the "C" just as it used to be in the days of "Fearless" Frank Chance's team.

The uniforms were full of pepper and fidelity as they warmed up. Hack Wilson and Rogers Hornsby, two of the big guns, showed that hitting was the main thing on their minds by grabbing bats at once and indulging in bunting practice.

CROWD YELLS
The crowd let out a yell when Norman McMillan, lead-off man, cracked one against the left field wall on the first ball pitched to him by Mike Cengros, little southpaw, in batting practice.

The Bruins were hitting viciously in practice. Hack Wilson patted one into the right field stands and the bleachers went wild.

The A's in natty gray traveling uniforms, blue stockings and jackets, came on the field at noon.

Kinsey Wins In Mexico Tennis
Mexico City, Oct. 8.—Robert Kinsey, a former American, scored Mexico's greatest victories in the national tennis championships yesterday, winning two matches in straight sets. He won the first from L. Legoretta, 6-1, 6-3, 6-1, then swamped Dr. Ricardo Alvarez, 6-0, 6-1, 6-1.

John Van Ryn, of Orange, N.J., and Ben Gorodokoff, Occidental College, each turned in their third victories of the tournament.

In the women's singles, Marjorie Glidman, of Santa Monica, Cal., eliminated Eugenia Villan, 6-2, 6-0. Edith Crow, of San Francisco, defeated Carman Villauria, 6-0, 6-4. Joe-Phine Cruickshank, San Francisco, defeated Judith Segura, 6-2, 7-5. and Marion Williams defeated Mrs. Time Septien, 6-1, 6-4.

Bogoljubow Is Two Pawns Up On Dr. Alekhine

Heidelberg, Germany, Oct. 8.—Dr. Alexander Alekhine of Paris and E. D. Bogoljubow of Trierberg in the eleventh game of their world's chess championship match yesterday, adjourned after forty moves. Play continued to-day. Bogoljubow, whose king is in the middle of the board, is two pawns ahead, while Dr. Alekhine has excellent attacking possibilities. The opening was a queen's gambit declined. JUNIOR CONTEST AT UPLANDS CLUB

R. L. Challoner and F. C. Dillabough Donate Trophy For Quarterly Competition

To stimulate interest among the youngsters R. L. Challoner and F. C. Dillabough have presented a perpetual trophy and individual cup for competition among the junior members, including girl juniors of the Uplands Golf Club.

The first match will be held next Saturday morning. There will be no charge for entrance.

These competitions will be held quarterly, the winner on each occasion receiving an individual prize and receiving possession of the trophy until the next quarterly competition.

Competitors must secure their cards at the office before commencing play and will select their partners and arrange starting times. All matches must be away from the first tee before 12 o'clock.

The match committee will select the dates of play in the different quarters and arrange handicaps.

Billy Evans Gives Athletics Edge

Thinks Teams Will Play Six Or Seven Games to Get Decision Over Chicago Cubs In World Series

By BILLY EVANS
Who will win the 1929 world series? Ask me something easy. Picking pennant winners and world champions is not an easy task. If I doubt, ask my old friend Hughie Fullerton.

This spring, writing for a well-known weekly, Fullerton named Washington as the pennant winner in the American League and picked Cleveland to finish last.

Two months ago, if someone asked me which team would win a seven-game series between the Cubs and the Athletics, I would have said "the Athletics," with much positiveness. To-day, the question arouses mingled feelings of uncertainty.

LEANS TO MACK
Connie Mack is one of the best friends I have in baseball. And since the Athletics are a member of the same league with which I am identified, naturally I lean strongly to Mack and the A's when the outcome of the series is discussed. Yet in summing up the chances of the two clubs, I am going to do my very best not to let partisan feelings sway my judgment.

Unless Mack is able to perform miracles in reconducting some of his athletes, I cannot see how he will be able to present as strong a line-up against the Cubs as would have been possible two months ago. At that time, his pitching staff was in high time, his team in fine shape physically. Since then, the club has suffered through illness and injuries. Joe Moley and Jimmy Dykes, two night capable infield performers, have been ailing. The standard of their play has suffered. The infield defence of the A's may show it.

GROVE'S CASE
Then the case of "Lefty" Grove calls for serious consideration. Grove, two months ago, was at the very peak of his game. During the final two months of the campaign he has been away below par. Perhaps it is just one of those things that happen in baseball, the pitcher having plenty of stuff but being unable to win. Then, he may have lost some of his pitching edge through being overworked. Probably proper rest prior to the series may restore that edge.

Considering the Athletics from every angle, the club does not impress me as strongly on the eve of the series as it did six or eight weeks back when it was running wild at the expense of the rest of the American League.

CUBS NOT IMPRESSIVE
Along the same lines, I might say that the play of the Cubs during the final month of the season were not nearly so impressive as earlier during the race. The pitching of the Cubs has slumped. Bush, the ace of the Cub's staff, like Grove, the big nose of the Mackmen, is the most serious offender in this respect. Bush has been shelled from the box in nearly

Strong Rugby Squads Expected This Season

Clubs Lining Up Husky Teams For Both Loops Here

Canadian Scottish and J.B.A.A. Promise To Be Formidable Contestants in Barnard Cup Series; College, University School, and Y.M.C.A. Expected To Be Outstanding Challengers Among Intermediates; Four Teams Expected To Play in Senior Loop; Five or Six in Other.

Although the grounds are still too hard for match play, rugby teams of the city are getting down to business with work-outs and meetings to decide upon plans for the year. To-morrow evening the intermediates will gather at the Y.M.C.A. to complete arrangements for the season. This meeting will be called at 5 o'clock. Owing to the fact that Canadian Rugby will not be over for some time yet, the senior body had not taken any action to draw up a schedule, but several teams have been lining up players in preparation for the opening. With more rain the fields will be in good shape for the game and enthusiasts are already taking a keen interest in the sport here.

In the senior league the Canadian Scottish and J.B.A.A. appear the two most formidable bets for Barnard Cup honors. Although neither has a definite team picked, on paper the tentative line-ups promise to be even stronger than last year.

SCOTTISH LINE-UP
This season both Bruce and Campbell Forster will be wearing the red sweaters of the clanmen. The addition of these to the Scottish pack, which will include Cy Barnard, Godfrey Wenman, Jerry Fenning, Lamb and another hefty boy, will cause plenty of worry in the opposition ranks.

The back division, with the exception of Fred Cabellu and Harold Holt, will be much the same as last season. Already the militiamen have signed on Jack Horne, Bill Oliver, Bernie Kinsman and Reg. Wenman. Brian Hunning, husky back for the Pirates last year, will also be on the three-quarter line of the Scottish this year. Bobby Tye will fill the half-back position left vacant by Holt. Bill Pollard and Bill Parker will also look after the scrum.

BAYS LOOK STRONG
Cecil Frampton, captain of the Bays, expects to furnish plenty of stiff opposition for the fighting Scots this year when he trots out his new J.B.A.A. team. Frank Skilling is expected to hold down the right wing three-quarter post again this year, while Dr. Ar Webster and Roy Guant are also assured places on the line.

Young Henry Cookin, fast-moving half, will again be on the Bays' line-up. "Cubby" Godwin, who played for College Intermediates last year, is also expected to play half for the carmen.

In the pack they will have John Locke, Horace Goad Askey, and possibly Bert Buller. Little is known of the line-ups for the Navy and Oak Bay Wanderers, the other probable entries in the senior loop.

While no definite statement has been received from the sailors, they are counted almost sure entries in the league. In previous years they have had considerable difficulty in fielding teams when their ships left port, but will most probably take part in the loop again.

The Wanderers are expected to recruit their squad from the former intermediate team along with some of the Pirates players and old members of the Oak Bay team which did not play last year.

GOOD MATERIAL
Among the intermediates, prospects are exceptionally bright for Victoria College. Larry Kennedy is expected to turn out with the Craigdarroch squad. If he goes back to the intermediate league, he will doubtless play fullback for the team. Kennedy had a couple of years' experience in senior company, and will be a great asset to the school if he plays with them.

Falling Kennedy, College will find a good back in Bill Boorman, the High School players who shone in the school league last year.

Dave Ellis, captain of the team, will manage a fast moving three-quarter line on which Chuck Rutan and possibly Chuck Copeland will play. Hayward, who will also hold down a place on the line.

Teddy Robinson, tricky half, will look after the scrum, while Luke Walton, Norman D'Arcy, Essen Young, Monteki, Billingsley and Jack Rutan will be in all probability compose the pack.

usual the University School is counted a strong bid for intermediate honors. Already Coach Reg. Wenman has been holding light workouts for this squad, and has plenty of likely material lined up for the fifteen.

The Y.M.C.A., a new entry in the intermediate class, promises to have a team of unusual strength this season. Under Harry Robson, the association has built up a good paper squad which should play fair rugby with a little practice. Since there is no age limit for the intermediates this year, the "Y" will in all probability strengthen its fifteen with a few seasoned veterans who would be able to steady the novices on the team.

After a couple of years' lay-off, the Bays will re-enter the intermediate league, while the Canadian Scottish will also be represented in this division.

Further practices and plans for the year will be discussed by the Bays at a meeting in the clubrooms at the Gorge to-morrow at 8 o'clock.

HOLIDAY FOOTBALL

To the Sports Editor:—Now that the Christmas holidays are drawing near, I'd like to draw the attention of the local soccer officials to the matter of getting an outside soccer team to play in Victoria on Christmas Day. There are two very good junior teams in Nanaimo—Park Rangers and South End United. I happened to be in Nanaimo a few weeks ago and saw South End defeat the champion junior team from Vancouver by 4 to 1 in a friendly game. This team plays soccer as it should be played. Their combination is splendid, they are very fast on the ball and play a clean game as far as I've seen. I believe they won four out of five cups last season. It was always a tussle between Park Rangers and South End whenever they met. All the players are young and speedy.

We are tired of seeing two Victoria teams play every holiday, the same old style of football, kicking it anywhere but the right place. Why not try and get the Park Rangers for Good Friday and the South End for Christmas Day?

B.C. HIGH SCHOOL RUGBY TEAM TO TOUR AUSTRALIA

Vancouver, Oct. 8.—For the first time in the history of English Rugby in British Columbia, a high school fifteen will next June leave on a tour of Australia and New Zealand, according to the plan of J. Fyfe Smith of this city, who was recently elected president of the first Dominion English Rugby Union.

Mr. Smith announced to-day he was dealing personally with the Quebec and Ontario vice-presidents of the D.E.R.U. and had written Secretary Henderson at Winnipeg requesting that official sanction be given the B.C. Rugby Union to make the necessary arrangements.

Immediately this sanction is received negotiations will be at once opened with the governing unions in the Antipodes for a tour next June.

WEDNESDAY SOCCER CHAMPS SEEKING FIRST VICTORY

After Reversal at Opening of Season, Hudson's Bay Team Out for Revenge Against Saanich Team To-morrow; Navy Hope for Two Straight Wins in Game With Batchelor's.

In an endeavor to offset the bad start they made last week, Hudson's Bays, winners of the 1928-29 Wednesday soccer title, will take the field at full strength to-morrow in a league tilt against Saanich United at the Royal Athletic Park.

The sailors, who handed the Bays a 3-1 defeat in the opening game of the series, will be out for their second win against Batchelor's Food Stores squad at Beacon Hill. Both games will commence at 3 o'clock.

Although the season is still young, the teams are expected to put up a fair brand of football, and should show considerable improvement over the games they played last week. With the ground softer the squads should find the going much easier, and some good games are expected.

Great things are expected of the young Saanich United eleven this year, and unless the dope is altogether wrong, the suburban boys should furnish stiff opposition for any squad in the league.

The schedule for other matches in the Hayward Cup series follow:
October 9.—Hudson's Bay vs. Saanich United at Royal Athletic Park; referee, Armstrong. Batchelor's Food Stores vs. Navy, at Beacon Hill; referee, McKay.

October 16.—Saanich United vs. Navy, at Beacon Hill; referee, Armstrong. Batchelor's Food Stores vs. Saanich United, at Royal Athletic Park; referee, McKay.

October 30.—Saanich United vs. Hudson's Bay, at Beacon Hill; referee, McKay. Navy vs. Batchelor's Food Stores, at Royal Athletic Park; referee, Armstrong.

November 6.—Navy vs. Saanich United, at Royal Athletic Park; referee, McKay. Hudson's Bay vs. Batchelor's Food Stores, at Beacon Hill; referee, Armstrong.

To-morrow's probable teams will be as follows:
The Navy will be picked from the following: Samelli, Plummer, Tapley, Plummer, Robinson, C. Whyte, Marr, Spriddell, McDonald, Coster, Walker, and Thwaites.

Saanich United — Restall; Barry, Ashe, Bonnier, Moir, Love, Cann, Hawkes, Blanco, Rigby and Tooley. Batchelor's Food Stores—Sallaway, McCoe, McIlmoy; Main, Wright, Gibney; Taylor, Addie, Purdy, Plister and Windie.

The following team will represent:

CARPET BOWLERS OPEN SEASON AT CRYSTAL GARDEN

Keen matches featured the opening night of the carpet bowling season at the Crystal Garden yesterday when forty members of the new bowling club played from 7.30 to 10.30 o'clock.

A few vacancies are still left in the club and may be filled by new members. Applications will be received at the Crystal Garden any evening between 7.30 and 10.30 o'clock.

Times Hoopsters To Hold Practice

Members of The Times basketball team will hold a practice at the Fairfield United Church gymnasium to-night at 7.30 o'clock to get in trim for the opening game against The Colonist. The following players are asked to turn out: W. Lund, N. Hebb, G. G. Cliff, A. Cliff, Morley Le Page, Frank McDonald, A. Bellis, Stuart Burnett, B. Smith and I. Strang.

Makes Net Score of 122 in Macaulay Point Competition

With a net score of 122 for the thirty-six holes, Burden captured The Colonial Cup in the tournament concluded at the Macaulay Point Golf Club over the week-end.

Ralph Fromson, who led by three strokes in the first eighteen, found the going hard last week-end and finished with a total of 125.

A. Buss was the runner-up with a net total of 123, just one stroke behind the winner. Buss negotiated the course in 75 on Sunday, giving him a net of 86, his handicap being 20.

Other leading players were: H. P. Pigot, 89-88-125; J. M. Montgomery, 89-89-127.

Fromson won a special prize for the best net over eighteen holes, and C. Mitchell for second best. F. White shot the best net score for nine holes with F. J. Nobbs second. H. W. Wilders a special in the hidden hole competition.

BILL MCKEECHNE

Chicago, Oct. 5.—William "Fighting Bill" McKeechne, transient manager of major league baseball, has quit the St. Louis Cardinals to accept a four-year managerial contract with the Boston Braves.

Desiring more of a settled managerial career in the "Big Show," McKeechne turned down a one-year renewal of his present contract with the Cardinals to take the helm of the Boston club. Judge Egan Fuchs, president of the Braves, announced the change during the major league draft meeting last night. His salary was not revealed.

McKeechne said he would cooperate with Judge Fuchs immediately in planning for a more successful year for the Braves next season.

Kansas City, Oct. 8.—The Kansas City Blues moved into a strong strategic position in the little world series Sunday, when they defeated the Rochester Red Wings, 6 to 2, before an overflow crowd of 2,000 at Mushback field. The series now stands at three victories for Kansas City, American Association champions, to one for Rochester, the International League pennant winners. The teams entrained Sunday night for Rochester, where the series is to be concluded, the first game to the first club to win five games.

Fire Prevention Week

Home Owners Are Urged to Check Over Fire Risks

Blocked Gutters, Loose Shingles, Untidy Basements and Accumulated Rubbish Are Frequent Sources of Fire; Household Owners Asked to Review Their Premises for Fire Prevention Week.

"The red dragon 'Fire' is licking around trying to find an entry into your home, aspiring to destroy in a few minutes, everything that it has taken you years to collect together," says a circular issued by the Victoria Fire Underwriters Association.

"The red dragon never comes openly; he always attacks by stealth in the places out of sight. He is likely to miss your vigilance. The cracks in the armor of your home that he is likely to attack are as follows:

"The gutters—the fire chief has stated that certainly the majority of fires start here. When did you last have your gutters cleaned out?"

"Loose or warped shingles—Another fire menace and also liable to let the rain in. These should be replaced at once."

"Dirty chimneys—Chimneys should be cleaned at least once every six months."

"Defective electric wires and fixtures—A very frequent and unpected source of danger. Have these looked over.

"Untidy and dirty basements—Only rats will frequently ignite by internal combustion if thrown in a corner. Rubbish around the basement is always a source of danger."

CLEAN-UP BACKYARD.

"Backyard rubbish—Likely to cause fire through chimney sparks or mischievous children."

"You cannot do all this yourself, but if you are not already in touch with suitable labor the Employment Service of Canada, phone 184, can send you a competent man."

"Take a look around your premises. Clean up. Get those fire breeders and germ breeders out of your store and off the premises. They belong on the dump heap, but will never get there until you start something," say the fire agents.

There is no reason for: A backyard full of broken bits of packing cases. A basement full of old papers, boxes and ashes. A barn full of empty cans, packing material and old barrels you will never use.

All the wrapping paper and old newspapers which blow around the premises.

Start them on the road to the dump heap.

"The 'red dragon' licking the bars with rage."

"Doing his utmost to get free."

"We've got him safely in a cage."

"But every fool has got a key."

"Procrastination, carelessness, lack of thought and stupidity are the keys that most frequently liberate the red dragon 'Fire' from the cage that has been so carefully constructed. There is really no excuse for any of them in these days of enlightenment."

"Have you clean and safe gutters around your home, clean chimneys, and clean basement and backyard."

"If not see that you have by the end of the week."

CONSUMER GAINS IN PREVENTING NEEDLESS FIRES

Insurance Costs Spread By Manufacturers and Others on Cost of Production

It is the general impression that every time the fire bell rings one or more insurance companies suffer loss. This is partially true, but the loss sustained is only for a temporary period.

Insurance companies are but collectors and distributors of the fire loss. They pay the losses as they occur, thus enabling the re-establishment of business, but they collect all such amounts, with the cost of doing business, in the premiums of succeeding years. The rates paid are large or small in proportion to the fire losses.

Manufacturers, who pay the largest premiums, add these with the other items of expense to the cost of their product, and this is all paid by the consumer. Bread, clothes, books and machinery all have in their cost a part of the national fire loss.

Over sixty per cent of the number of fires take place in homes, which means a home-fire for every four minutes.

CUT CANADA'S ASH HEAP, SAY UNDERWRITERS

Annual Toll of Loss From Fire Could Be Reduced By Careful Firing

Canadians from the Pacific to the Atlantic are asked to give as much attention as they possibly can this week to the elementary principles of fire-prevention. Fire statistics show that the resumption of more intensive domestic firing after the summer season has been attended by many disasters that could have been prevented if the sweep had been called in to examine or carry out such cleaning operations as are usually necessary.

Danger very naturally lurks in many quarters. The careless disposition of waste material and rubbish of all kinds is a notorious cause of destruction.

The old and familiar method of pouring oil on what appears to be dead embers has caused many explosions and numerous fatalities. Careless use of matches, the thoughtless throwing away of lighted cigar or cigarette ends, the unintelligent stacking of kindling that might easily form a bridge over which the fire from one burning house might cross to another are common causes that often result in preventable destruction.

SMALL MATTERS COUNT

One might dilate upon a whole chapter of "don'ts" and still omit any reference to many dangerous practices that contribute to a Canadian ash heap that ought to be very considerably smaller than it is. In the main, however, reduction of loss through avoidable fires will only come about by the exercise of average intelligence in relation to apparently small matters.

The Victoria and District Fire Agents Association, who are behind the local fire-prevention week campaign request that the citizens give the matter of fire prevention their earnest consideration and thereby eliminate a large number of unnecessary fires in this locality.

EIGHT "DON'TS" BY FIRE AGENTS CALL ATTENTION

Use of Gasoline in Wash-tub and Other Mistakes Are Pointed to in Drive

The Victoria and District Fire Agents' Association suggest the following list of "Don'ts" as a medium of Fire Prevention.

Don't overvalue your property when placing insurance.

Don't start fires in stoves, furnaces or fireplaces unless you are sure the flues and chimneys are clean.

Don't allow a stovepipe to come in contact with wood. Use cement, tin, or galvanized iron where the pipe goes through.

Don't leave your home with a lamp burning or turned down low.

Don't wash clothing or other articles in gasoline, benzene or naphtha, nor allow it to be kept in your house.

Don't throw water on flames caused by burning gasoline, benzene, naphtha or coal oil, as it spreads the flames.

Don't throw the fire with a rug or covering of some kind.

Don't use any but safety matches; others are dangerous.

Don't permit children to play with matches or start bonfires.

HATRY GROUP IS REFUSED BAIL

London, Oct. 8.—Mr. Justice Macnaughton to-day refused the application of Clarence V. Hatry and three associates for bail. They are charged with conspiracy to defraud.

Hatry, who was a financial promoter, and his companions appeared in the Guildhall court yesterday on a charge of conspiracy to defraud growing out of the collapse of several companies they had been promoting. The court remanded them until Friday.

NO KICKING IS HEARD IN PEACE RIVER COUNTRY

Dr. J. D. MacLean Impressed
With Possibilities of That Section of Canada

One Million Dollars Already
Loaned By Federal Farm
Loan Board

One place where there are no "grouches" is the Peace River country, according to Dr. J. D. MacLean, ex-Premier of British Columbia, who is in Victoria to-day after a tour through the Peace River in connection with the operations of the Canada Farm Loan Board, of which he is chairman.

Dr. MacLean said the Peace River impressed him with its immense possibilities, and that there is a big crop in that area this year.

Dr. MacLean spent the whole of last week in the northern part of the province of Alberta, and visited the Peace River district, both in that province and in British Columbia. He expressed himself as being satisfied with the class of security offered the board in the western provinces. Caution must be exercised, he said, in the board's operations in order that the advance made on the security offered as well as the annual interest payments may be promptly met.

The success of floating farm bond issues will depend on the soundness of the underlying securities, that is, on the values of the farms mortgaged on the board, said the doctor.

MANITOBA READY

Branches of the Farm Loan Board are at present in operation in British Columbia, Alberta, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, and a branch will be opened in Manitoba during the present month.

Up to September 31, a total of 2,800 applications have been received by all the provincial boards, and 770 of these have been forwarded to head office for approval. Of this latter number the Ottawa board has refused 67, approved 597, while 106 have been returned to the provincial boards for further consideration and information. Of the 2,000 odd applications that have not yet been forwarded to head office, many have been refused because they did not come within the terms of the act. Other applications have not succeeded on account of the limited acreage owned, the security offered being more in the nature of garden plots, than of farming unit. Large existing encumbrances, unsuccessful farming experience, applicant a poor moral risk, and crop uncertainty are other reasons for refusing loans.

Many of the applications in the hands of the provincial boards and of the appraisers will be forwarded to head office in due course and will be approved.

To date over a million dollars in loans have been authorized by the Federal Board, and some $3,000,000 will probably be distributed before the end of the calendar year. The loans average about $2,000 each.

800-MILE CYCLE TRIP DESCRIBED

H. T. Ravenhill Tells Overseas League to See B.C. First

The inaugural meeting of the Overseas League for the winter season was held yesterday afternoon in the private dining-room of David Spencer's Limited, under the chairmanship of A. Brodie Sanders. There was a good attendance.

The election of a vice-chairman in the person of T. Golby, and Mrs. Lamborn's report, as presented by Mrs. Hodgins, preceded the address by H. T. Ravenhill on "Seeing British Columbia First."

Mr. Ravenhill spoke with enthusiasm of his first trip by bicycle over the devious roadways of the mainland, where he covered a distance of 800 miles and found the roads made and in the making, little short of miraculous.

"See Nikko and die" might be paraphrased by this ardent cyclist as "See British Columbia and Live." The scenery through the Chilliwack and Fraser Valleys, the Fraser Canyon and the glorious Thompson River country, the Columbia, and the various lakes and countless streams and rivulets in contrast to the dryness of Vancouver Island were found invigorating and refreshing. Attractive motor camps along the highways, comfortable hotels in the settlements, and lovely spots of undrained beauty for those preferring their own camping grounds

COURT ECHO IN ACCIDENT CASE

Civil Claim For Damages
Filed Against Harry Norman Dunnett

Following an accident on the East Saanich Road, near Royal Oak, several weeks ago, a claim for unstated damages for personal injuries and for damage to a car was filed in the Supreme Court to-day by W. H. Bullock-Webster, acting for the plaintiffs, Harry B. Foster, Mrs. Bessie G. Foster and the Begg Motor Company. Harry Norman Dunnett is named as the defendant.

The claim is for damages for severe personal injuries said to have been sustained by Mrs. Bessie Foster and on behalf of the Begg Motor Company for damage to a car.

Commercial fishing areas adjacent to Crofton has been removed three miles northward, in accordance with representations which the Duncan Chamber of Commerce has made for some years to the Federal authorities at Ottawa.

J. A. Motherwell, Chief Superintendent of Fisheries, notified A. H. Peterson, secretary of the Duncan Chamber, of the new boundary regulations in the following letter:

"With regard to the prohibited area in the vicinity of Chemainus River, I would advise that instructions have to-day been wired to the local fisheries officer to move the northern boundary to a straight line drawn between Bare Point Light and Pariminter Point. It will be observed that this places the eastern boundary approximately three miles north from its present position. It is felt that this action should satisfy all requirements for conservation."

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR FIRE SAFETY

1. Have all flues and chimneys properly cleaned before attempting to use them.
2. Look very carefully at the chimney or flue, at the point just above the peak of the roof where the chimney goes through, as the lower part may have settled and the upper portion, being held up by the roof timbers, may have pulled away, leaving an open space or break in the chimney that will permit sparks slipping through into the attic or concealed space.
3. Be sure that all flue holes that are not to be used this year have good metal stops, as innumerable fires are caused by sparks through papering over unused pipe holes in chimneys.
4. Clean the ventilating collars around all flues, removing all lint, cobwebs and dust, leaving nothing in the ventilator, in this way permitting the air to cool the pipe where it goes through.
5. Be careful that the supply of kindling wood is not piled up in the house should burn.
6. It is best to keep all lightwood, kindlings and boxes in sheds, stables or basements, in orderly piles, and not to have papers or excelsior mixed with it.
7. Extra caution should be used in the handling of gasoline. In the winter all windows and doors are closed, eliminating the possibility of the air blowing the inflammable vapors away.
8. Never use gasoline inside the house for cleaning, and when compelled to use it for any other purpose do not forget that you are handling a powerful explosive which may endanger your life and property.
9. Remove all dry grass and leaves from your premises before some one carelessly throws a match away.
10. Do not dry clothing and inflammable materials above or near hot stoves.

If you will obey the above commandments, you can prevent many fires and much loss of life and property, says the fire insurance agents.

(Copyright, 1929, NEA Service Inc.)

were described by the speaker, who wondered at the few B.C. cars which he encountered in his long journey. Through the dry belt Mr. Ravenhill proceeded to the Okanagan and Arrow Lakes country, on to Trail and Roseland and the district of the Doukwa farms. An altitude of 5,500 feet was reached and beautiful Christina Lake revealed. Greenwood, Midway, Rock Creek, Bridesville, McKinney Canyon, Osoyoos Lake, Anarchist Mountain, were visited and the journey continued from Oliver to Keremeos, Princeton to Merritt, and Spence's Bridge, connecting there with the transprovincial highway.

This trip Mr. Ravenhill characterized as the best he has made, the roads were not dangerous and they were being improved constantly. Splendid work had been done in the past by the Royal Engineers and in the present by conscientious road-builders who were working for a permanent good.

"Going back by the States," he was frequently asked, but always replied "Seeing British Columbia First."

The speaker hoped that more Canadians would find it possible to spend their holidays in British Columbia.

The vote of thanks by Mr. Sanders was seconded by Mr. Laybourn.

HIGHWAY TO ALASKA WILL BE SURVEYED

Premier Tolmie Says Engineers Will Start Investigations Next Spring

No Promise as to When Highway Will Be Started; Other Work Must Not Suffer

A route for the projected British Columbia-Alaska road, running from Vancouver through Hazelton north by an easy water grade to the Yukon boundary, will be investigated by the engineers of the Provincial Government next spring when they commence to make a study of the feasibility and cost of this scheme.

Data gathered by the Public Works Department and just released, shows that this suggested route would open up a vast area of valuable mineral, timber and agricultural land, would give access to navigation on the great rivers of the north, would bring out through British Columbia ports business of all kinds which otherwise would move to the sea through the Alaska Panhandle, and would create perhaps the finest scenic highway in the world.

The Alaska road project, Premier Tolmie emphasized in making public the information now in the hands of the Public Works Department, is only in its formative stages. Long investigation and careful surveys will be required to determine whether the Province can afford to embark on it at this time.

"We must know," the Premier said, "the feasibility of the proposed road, the possible returns to be secured from it, the best route, the cost, and the amount of assistance which might be expected from outside points. In the future it appears certain that the mining and other developments in the north will demand the construction of local roads. It is the Government's desire that these may be built into a general scheme instead of haphazardly. We expect the Federal Government to carry it to the boundary of Alaska. I interviewed a member of the Federal Government in Ottawa recently and was greatly encouraged by their interest in the project and we have no doubt they will do this portion of the work."

"Great interest has been shown in the scheme in many parts of the United States and a movement is under way there to secure the extension of the Alaska road system to meet the proposed international highway. I was particularly interested to learn that Delegate Sutherland of Alaska, just introduced into the United States Congress a bill which would provide $25,000 to cover the cost of preliminary investigation into this entire project. We hope for substantial measure of co-operation from our neighbors in a project which would be of great value to them as well as to us."

"So that any road work done in the north in the future, as it is required, may fit later into this general scheme, we propose next year to make extensive surveys in the field not of one route, but of all possible routes, and not alone of engineering routes, but also of economic factors. That is to say, we are not only interested in the location of the road from an engineering standpoint, but also the character of the country it would serve, the rugged areas of timber, agricultural land and minerals. And in addition to all that, of course, is the great objective of completing an international highway which would run from the Alaska coast of Mexico to the sea coast of Alaska, which thousands of Americans every year would move through our Province to the 'land of the midnight sun,' an irresistible attraction to the tourists."

"It should be clearly understood," the Premier emphasized, "that any work along these lines must be done as the Province can afford it. That is to say, the necessary development of our road system in the already settled parts of the Province will not be interfered with or minimized in order to carry out this project. No scheme of this sort must be carried out at the expense of communities and farming districts where road improvements are needed."

STRATEGIC SITUATION
The Premier had before him this week maps and engineering data which showed that the proposed route from Hazelton north would have a strategic location in opening up the northwestern quarter of British Columbia. Briefly, this route runs from Hazelton to the head of Atlin Lake, via Telegraph Creek and Atlin. It covers about 485 miles in British Columbia and about 400 miles in Yukon before reaching the border of Alaska. Of this, some forty miles north of Hazelton already is constructed and the existing road system is being pushed north gradually every year.

A glance at the map of northern British Columbia shows how such a route would follow the course of rivers and streams, over virtually its entire length, thus running on a water grade where travel would be possible most of the year.

This route also cuts across the headwaters of most of the large rivers running down to the sea at points from which navigation by small boats, at least, is possible. Travel moving into this country by road thus would be able to go west in many places by water.

HELP NORTHERN PORTS
Most of the territory served lies to the east of the Alaska Panhandle, which effectively separates it from tidewater. Developed under present conditions, this country inevitably becomes tributary to American ports. The already developed portion of this mineral discoveries in this area is proceeding through Juneau. A north-south road east of the Panhandle, it is believed, would draw this business down through British Columbia port, like Stewart and Prince Rupert.

A branch of the new road swinging westward would reach Atlin, on the Naas, from which boats can travel down to the sea. Another branch, further north, would meet the Bear River Road and thus provide access to Stewart.

CANADIAN NATIONAL

Brentwood

At a meeting of the Mount Newton Social Club it was decided to hold the first card party of the season on Wednesday, October 9/10. The winter series will commence on October 23.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, H. Clow; vice-president, Rev. Father Scheelan; and secretary, Miss H. Hagan.

The Misses Flora Hunt and Sybil Manning spent a few days at the Mount-shell, Marchant Road.

E. Harding, who has been visiting in Calgary and other prairie towns, returned to his home Saturday.

When a Child is FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract. When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour indigestible foods. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting. Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address: Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont. It will be sent free. In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over fifty years. (Adv.)

art, now entirely isolated except for boat communication. Already forty miles of road is built north from Hazelton and the Bear River Road is being extended now from Stewart to Meisenden Lake. Thus only a short gap remains between Hazelton and Stewart. If this were spanned, to open up contiguous mineral districts, a substantial start would be made on the greater project of an Alaskan highway.

Colwood

Colwood, Oct. 8.—Wednesday night's card party was very successful, many tables of progressive 200 being in play.

The winners were Mrs. R. Murray and T. Kenway, while the consolation prizes were awarded to Mrs. Tyler and T. Parker. The social committee, Mesdames Murray, Hopwood, Parker and A. Godfrey, served refreshments.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to St. John's Church will be held in Colwood Hall Wednesday afternoon at 2.30. Mrs. E. T. Brislow of Swift Current, Sask., has opened her Colwood residence.

Mrs. P. H. Hannan has returned to Vancouver after visiting her parents, Capt. and Mrs. Goss, "Hamilton Grove". The Colwood Hall committee will hold the weekly card party on Wednesday evening.

The following pupils of St. John's Sunday School attended the children's service at the new Cathedral Saturday afternoon: Mildred Peatt, Ethel Brown, Joan Coffrey, Eleanor Peatt, Lily Holt, Doris Peatt, Paul Nixon, Sammy Johnson, Bobby Little, Fred Longworth and Charlie Carnegie. Rev. A. L. Nixon and Major T. Godfrey kindly conveyed the children to and from the city.

Mrs. E. Peatt entertained the members of the Optimists Saturday evening when a delightful musical evening was enjoyed by all.

Five special concerts at the Express Hotel this season, November 14, December 11, January 22, March 28, April 17.

Royal Oak

Mrs. A. E. Campion, Wilkinson Road, left on Friday for Harrison Hot Springs. She was accompanied from Vancouver by her sister, Mrs. Musgrave. R. Layritz returned on Sunday from Seattle.

Quick Pile Relief

Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid is guaranteed to banish any form of Pile misery, or money back. It gives quick action even in old, stubborn cases. Hem-Roid is a harmless tablet that removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. It brings joyful relief quickly and safely or costs nothing. MacFarlane Drug Co., Vancouver Drug Co., and druggists everywhere sell it with this guarantee. (Adv.)

NEWS IN BRIEF

In Esquimalt police court yesterday afternoon, W. Leonard was fined $5 for driving an automobile with only one headlight. He pleaded guilty.

J. H. McVety, general superintendent of the employment service of Canada for British Columbia, arrived in the city to-day from Vancouver.

A meeting of the effective speaking group of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held at the Chamber of Commerce this evening commencing at 8 o'clock.

The second of a series of weekly dances to be staged by the Pro Patria Branch will be held in the auditorium to-morrow night. Dancing will commence at 8 o'clock and continue until midnight.

The weekly smoker of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Victoria Unit No. 12, will be held in the club-rooms, 512 Fort Street, on Saturday, at 8 o'clock.

Fire damaged the home of Frank L. Thomson at 1212 Faithful Street early on Monday morning. The blaze originated from defective wiring in the roof and the ceiling of an upstairs room was damaged.

"Canada, a Young Man's Country," will be the subject of an address to be given by B. C. Nicholas to the "Y" Men's Club at its supper meeting in the association's private dining-room to-night at 8.15 o'clock.

Two fire calls were registered yesterday afternoon. At 5.15 o'clock an apparatus was summoned to a chimney fire at 1285 St. Patrick Street, Oak Bay, and at 5.52 o'clock firemen put out a grass fire at the Industrial Reserve.

Mayor Herbert Anscomb and Reeve William Crouch have been appointed members of the resolutions committee of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, which will meet in annual convention at Harrison Hot Springs on Sunday evening.

A city lot at the southeast corner of Hillside and Cedar Hill Road was ordered sold by the City Council last night to an out-of-town investor for $970, on terms. The finance committee also secured endorsement of the investment of $3,000 in sinking funds through Pemberton & Son in debentures to yield 7.175 per cent.

No further ruling will be made on the ghost hours parking law, according to the City Council in action last night. Settlement of the question of parking in early morning hours was left to Chief Fry, whose suggestion that lower Yates Street be utilized as a central parking area between 2 a.m. and 6.30 a.m. may be brought into effect.

A resolution by the Native Sons of British Columbia, urging definite steps towards reforestation, and which will be submitted to the convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, was received by the City Council last night with a request for its support. The council left it to city union delegates to pass on as they saw fit.

Chicken runs within the city and old wooden sidewalks are encouragement to the breeding of rats, it was reported in the City Council last night by Dr. Richard Polton, City Health Officer. A by-law to regulate chicken houses was suggested, but the council decided to take no action at this time.

Alexander J. MacLean, late of Nova Scotia, and presently now resident in Victoria, is heir to a substantial sum of money, but will lose his rights if no claim is filed within two months. This information has been supplied by Chief of Police John Fry by Chester J. O'Brien, attorney of Boston, Mass., who has asked the aid of the Victoria police in locating the missing heir.

A request for a grant for the Children's Aid Society in the sum of $750, expected to be required to meet additions and improvements before the end of the year, was referred by the City Council last night to the finance committee with power to act. Alderman J. S. Woodward reiterated his view that the present premises were a "dangerous fire trap" owing to their crowded condition.

Pleading guilty to driving a motor to the common danger on Esquimalt Road, D. Marr was yesterday afternoon fined $15 in the Esquimalt police court. Further fine of $5, before the end of the year, was referred by the City Council last night to the finance committee with power to act. Alderman J. S. Woodward reiterated his view that the present premises were a "dangerous fire trap" owing to their crowded condition.

J. H. Jeffrey of Shawanigan Lake, charged in the city police court this morning with driving to a common danger on Saturday morning, September 28, was fined $20 by Magistrate Jay. Evidence was given by J. B. Adam as to a collision which had taken place at the intersection of Moss Street and Rockland Avenue between the accused's car and a delivery truck owned by James Adam.

A rebate equivalent to one third of a year's taxes on the site of the new Central Baptist Church was requested of the City Council last night by that organization. The request was denied on the ground that the current assessment roll, on which this year's taxation was based, could not be changed, but a promise of early action to exempt the new church property next year was made instead.

The application by the J. Kingham Coal and Dock Company for water rights in front of Lot 14, Block L, Victoria Harbor, went unopposed before the City Council last night. The value of a city lot in rear of the site was placed variously at $7,000 and $7,500 by the City Lands Commissioner and the City Assessor. Final city action in regard to the application before the Federal authorities for foreign shore rights was left to the finance committee with power to act. No opposition was expressed to the application last night.

The first year representative on the Students' Council of Victoria College for the ensuing term will be Herbert Manson, well-known boy orator and formerly of Victoria High School. Mr. Manson was elected by his comrades yesterday afternoon, and will during 1929-30 represent the interests of the Freshmen at council meetings. The defeated candidate was Gordon Fields. The men's sports representative on the council will be Bill White, well-known college basketball player, and the women's representative, Dorothy Allan, a popular co-ed who last year played centre-forward on the hockey team. Both entered office by acclamation. Presidents of the Literary and Scientific Societies have yet to be chosen.

KEEP HEADS IN SENDING IN FIRE ALARM IS ADVICE

Students of Victoria College Given Tips on Fire Prevention By Speakers

Students of the Victoria College were addressed this morning on the subject of fire prevention by Aldermen J. A. Worthington, Harold Beckwith, and Fire Chief Vernon Stewart.

Mr. Beckwith, who spoke first, pointed out the different dangers to avoid in the home, in the office, and on the street. Chief of these was the disposal of cigarettes. Pouring oil on a fire already lighted and filling a burning lamp were also sources of danger, as was the placing of stove pipes through a wooden framework. The drain on the national revenue through fire loss was enormous, but could be partially avoided by teaching the younger generation fire prevention, Mr. Beckwith said. In Victoria alone the fire loss due to smoking was $9,000.

Alderman Worthington also referred to cigarette smoking, and the foolishness of throwing unfinished business from motor cars and office buildings. He added that citizens should not be tardy in sending in fire alarms. The accumulation of rubbish was a continual source of danger.

KEEP YOUR HEAD

Fire Chief Stewart endorsed the remarks of Mr. Beckwith. He said that people should know the number of the fire station closest to them, and should not lose their heads in sending in an alarm. In a district where there were no telephones, the situation of the fire boxes ought to be known. Mr. Stewart described the tenor which each member of the Fire Brigade was under, which was not relieved till the outbreak was located.

Principal Elliott presided, and supplemented the remarks of each speaker.

TO RAISE FUNDS FOR B.C. BLIND

Prominent Local Businessmen Named on Committee to Conduct $150,000 Canvass

Plans to raise the sum of $150,000 for the Western division of the Canadian Institute for the Blind will be undertaken on the Island and Mainland early next month as the result of a decision reached this morning.

Under the chairmanship of Fred Landsberg, a group of local business men including Sir Frank Barnard, D. J. Angus, B. W. Spencer, J. A. Bayward and C. Nicholas heard an account of the aims of the Institute given by M. C. Robinson, superintendent of the Western Division.

Mr. Robinson outlined the work, history and needs of the western branch of the Institute, explaining why it was necessary for the British Columbia body to raise funds to put its work on an effective basis. He spoke of the steps that were being taken to conduct the campaign here and on the Mainland with that object in view.

Mr. Landsberg was named general chairman for canvassers, while Sir Frank Barnard was appointed chairman of a special committee.

Miss Spence defeated Miss Hutchinson, 4 and 2.

Mild Smallpox At Grand Forks

Several mild cases of smallpox have been discovered at Grand Forks, according to information reaching Dr. H. E. Young, chairman of the Provincial Board of Health.

Rumors to the effect that Grand Forks had been quarantined were incorrect the doctor stated.

Dr. A. R. Chisholm of the Provincial Department of Health, left here last night for Grand Forks to investigate.

Premier S. F. Tolmie and C. H. Dickie M.P. will be the featured speakers at the Saanich Conservative Association's annual meeting this evening commencing at 8 o'clock in the Conservative Rooms, Campbell Building, and will commence at 8 o'clock. Reports for the year will also be given.

NEW HOMES TO BE BUILT

Architect Ralph Berrill announced to-day that he had been instructed by a client now in California to complete plans for a $12,000 residence to be erected on Esplanade Road. Bids will be invited for the construction of this home within a few days.

He is also preparing plans for an $8,000 home to be built on Granite Street.

Mr. Berrill is building a residence for himself on Mount Joy Avenue, the contract having been placed with Wm. Sutton of St. Patrick Street.

NAVY LEAGUE MEMBERS MEET ADMIRAL STORY

Luncheon Tendered Naval Leader This Afternoon By Navy League

Vice-Admiral William Oswald Story was the guest of honor at a well-attended luncheon held this afternoon at Spencer's restaurant.

The luncheon was arranged by the Victoria and Vancouver Island Branch of the Navy League of Canada, with the objective of giving citizens an opportunity to meet the Admiral.

Capt. C. F. L. Money, vice-president, acted as chairman in the absence of E. W. McMullen, president. Before introducing Admiral Story he gave a resume of the reports recently presented at the annual meeting of the Navy League of Canada.

Capt. Money presented a report of the activities of the branch during September which showed a flourishing financial position. He read an excerpt from a letter from C. G. Williams, Dominion secretary, regarding a proposed tour of the district to raise funds for Dominion purposes.

Admiral Story expressed his pleasure at being again in Victoria after an absence of several years and touched briefly upon aspects of the work of the Navy League of Canada.

INDIAN ARTS IN B.C. DESCRIBED

Miss Alice Ravenhill Tells Columbia W.A. of Native Crafts

The first open meeting of the season was held by the women's branch of the Christ Church Cathedral Women's Auxiliary, at the Memorial Hall, on Monday afternoon when an address on "The Indian Industry in British Columbia" was given by Miss Alice Ravenhill.

Mrs. Greenway, first vice-president of the branch was in the chair, and there was a good attendance of members and visitors, among whom were Mrs. Head of Alberni, Mrs. Korish, Mrs. Mosher, Mrs. Claudet contributed two songs, "My Prayer" and an encore which were much appreciated.

Miss Ravenhill was given a cordial welcome, and her address was illustrated by means of very cleverly drawn colored drawings of the various Indian arts and crafts, and the various tribes lived.

On Vancouver Island, fishery formed the staple occupation and means of support, so that the killer whale is the chief object of extermination, with the Thunderbird, hawk and eagle included in their designs. Mention was made of primitive and crude art shown in petroglyphs found in parts of the island, also of the use of the native form of religion upon their drawings.

Mythical cannibalism is there evidenced, and is retained in their religious dances. The materials used were sea grasses and nettle, and their blankets were woven of cedar fibre and wool, from a wooly dog, rarely the purpose. Having no clay for pottery, wood was largely used, and the designs on their wooden vessels are admirable.

On the Mainland, the Chilotevets are noted for their skill in basketry, while the Kootenais do a wonderful work in skins and furs. The Nootkas, too, are clever in making baskets for the home use, while the Haida tribe is the home of the intricate and wonderful forms and colors. Miss Ravenhill concluded with a description of the Stone Age Indians' methods of making cedar houses.

Mrs. Greenway, on behalf of the meeting, expressed the thanks of all to Miss Ravenhill for her very interesting and interesting address, after which will officiate and direct of Mrs. Guilford, Mrs. Dodson and Mrs. Greenway, assisted by Mrs. Piamore and other members of the branch.

Harvest Supper At St. John's

As a final to the harvest festival, the Guild of St. John's Church held a most successful supper and concert in the schoolroom on Monday evening.

The Dean of Montreal, the Very Rev. Arthur Caplan, was the guest of honor, and gave a most inspiring and witty address, at the close of which he received an ovation from the large number present.

The musical part of the programme was contributed by the following well-known artists: Mrs. Jas. Travis, Mrs. O. L. Jull, Mrs. Ruby Moore and Frank Arthur Partridge. Each responded to an encore.

Margaret Whyte, Hazel Wright and Roy Goldfinch delighted the audience with their performances, and each was obliged to add an extra number.

KIWANIS HEAR OF IDEAS AND GROWTH OF "Y"

W. S. Maguire, General Secretary Here; Tells of Work Done By Association

Growth and development of the Y.M.C.A. along with its ideals of service were outlined by Walter S. Maguire, general secretary of the local association, at the Kiwanis Club luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

Opening with an account of the erection of the building here, Mr. Maguire explained to the clubmen the reason or the tremendous debt encountered by the association. He showed that although the architects for the building had reduced construction costs from $100,000 to $85,000, when the building was completed the Y.M.C.A. was called upon to face a debt greater than the second estimate owing to certain repairs. After it had been in operation for several years this sum was not reduced, Mr. Maguire stated.

REDUCED DEBT

Up to five years ago there was a deficit of $71,000, the speaker continued. This had been reduced to $11,000 through the energetic work of the directorate. In referring to the activities of the board, Mr. Maguire paid great tribute to the work of the late Mark W. Graham and Fred McGregor.

He continued by showing that the method of keeping only the best material for its members and giving them the maximum of service further installed an over expenditure. While speaking of this he noted that the membership fees paid by no means equalled the outlay for equipment and instruction.

WORLD OUTLOOK

Dealing with the world aspect of the Y.M.C.A., the speaker referred to its origin in London eighty years ago. He spoke of its religious phases and its ideal of service, saying that it was the object of the club not only to meet, but to pass them on to others to enjoy.

Contrasting its simple origin with its present world application, Mr. Maguire showed the development of the association and expressed the opinion that it would continue to grow.

While speaking of the three-fold object of the association, the utilization of the spirit, mind and body, the secretary stated that not only were the spiritual and intellectual phases of the work exceptionally valuable, but the physical branch was of the utmost importance. Without strong bodies, he continued, the work of strong spirit and strong minds could not be utilized to the fullest extent.

In closing he mentioned a few personal experiences in the local association and ably illustrated to the clubmen the value of the Y.M.C.A.

Brooke Stephenson, Kiwanis president, expressed the club's thanks to the speaker, saying that he felt the Kiwanians were one hundred per cent behind the association.

REV. HUGH NIXON IS BEREAVED

Pastor of Fairfield Church Loses Little Daughter, Lois

Rev. Hugh Nixon, pastor of the Fairfield United Church, and Mrs. Nixon suffered a sad bereavement in the death of their little daughter Lois Marie Douglas Nixon, who passed away at the Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria after a brief illness, aged six years and ten months. The little girl was born at Melfort, Sask., and was a pupil at the Sir James Douglas School.

She is survived by her parents, two sisters and one brother, and her grandmother, Mrs. John Douglas of Vancouver.

The remains are reposing at McCall Brothers' Funeral Home, and will be removed to-night to the family residence, 220 Moss Street, where services will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. P. McFaffie, an old family friend from Saskatchewan, will conduct the services, assisted by Rev. H. A. Ireland. Interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

OBITUARY

Funeral services for the late Edgar Burton Knowlton, who passed away at the family residence, Saanich, October 5, will be held Wednesday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock from the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Chapel, and Dr. W. J. Sippell will officiate and interment will be made in the family plot at the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Mary Edgley Cliff, who passed away this city Sunday, will be held Wednesday morning, at 10.30 o'clock, from the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home. Rev. Dr. W. J. Sippell will officiate and interment will be made in the family plot at the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Funeral services will be held to-morrow over the remains of George Noble Faulkner, of 8 Pioneer Street, who passed away at the Jubilee Hospital on Sunday, aged fifty years. His widow and one daughter survive him. The late Mr. Faulkner served in the Great War and in the South-African War. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel, and the remains will be laid to rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

The death occurred at an early hour yesterday morning at the residence of her cousin, Michael Kelly, 1422 Pembroke Street, of Jane Clyde Deighan. She is survived by one sister and a brother-in-law, Buffalo, N.Y.; two brothers in Ireland, and an aunt in Greenock, Scotland. The funeral will take place to-morrow morning, the cortege leaving the Sands Funeral Chapel at 8.30 o'clock and at 9 o'clock mass will be celebrated at St. Andrew's Cathedral. Interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The funeral of the late William Sanford, who was accidentally killed last Thursday in Port Renfrew, will take place on Thursday morning at 10.30 o'clock from Sands Funeral Chapel, and the remains will be laid to rest at Royal Oak Burial Park. The late Mr. Sanford was born in England forty years ago and is survived by his mother and a brother in Montreal.

Heintzman

The Grand Piano is To-day's Favorite

AFTER half a century of popularity the grand places the upright piano in favor with musical people. To-day the trend is definitely in favor of the grand and manufacturers have created many lovely instruments to grace the modern drawing room.

One of the outstanding attractive instruments is the Heintzman Baby Grand. It has all the charm and musical quality associated with the name Heintzman and in beauty of design it is a masterpiece of creative craftsmanship. You can exchange your upright piano for this handsome instrument and it will occupy but very little more space in your drawing room. Fletcher Bros. liberal terms makes the exchange a simple matter.

CHAPTER XXIX

Helen was admitted into the foyer of Brent's apartment by a Japanese servant. She stepped quickly over the threshold and glanced beyond to the living-room that could be glimpsed through an open doorway.

"Miss Nellin," she said as though it did not matter, and moved on, paying no attention to the man's words. He was saying that Mr. Brent was out.

Someone had drawn the heavy draperies against the brilliant sunshine of the early autumn day in the living-room and turned on a soft light from a lamp.

Helen's eyes went to the light instinctively, but instead of seeing what she expected, Leonard sitting under it, she found herself staring into the bemused countenance of "one of his women."

The phrase flashed through her mind unsummoned, perhaps as an echo of thoughts she had entertained on the train.

She recognized Carmel at once—as the woman she had seen with Brent when she and Shalimar had gone to the Ritz.

She did not know who she was or what she was, but she felt an anomalous rise within her even before the woman spoke. Another time she'd have mistaken it for jealousy; now she believed it to be annoyance over a third person's presence when she desired a private talk with Leonard.

"I took the liberty of asking you to come up because even Toto or Poco or Soho or whatever his name is, doesn't seem to know what has become of Leonard," Carmel said indicating by moving over slightly that she expected Helen to sit beside her on the divan.

Helen stood, thinking swiftly. "Have you an engagement with him?" she asked pointedly, deciding that if such were the case she would go and come back later.

"My dear, one never has engagements with Leonard," Carmel answered patronizingly. "One catches him on the wing. But, of course, possibly in your case. Her voice rose, on a mockingly interrogatory note.

Helen returned her glance with the steadiness of steel, but inwardly she felt shouldered in her face.

She turned and took a seat in an arm chair near a reading table, and quite nonchalantly turned on a second lamp. She would not go now and appear to this insolent woman to be running away from her jibes.

"Smoke?" Carmel asked, taking out a platinum case and extending it to Helen.

The latter shook her head. With considerable education, Carmel put the case aside, rose and walked over to a desk and dug a long amber cigarette holder out of a drawer.

Helen perceived that Carmel wished her to know that she was familiar with the apartment, but she appeared not to notice.

They sat in silence for several minutes, Carmel lastly pulling at her chocolate-papery cigarette and Helen flipping the pages of a magazine.

Secretly Carmel was studying her, weighing her youth and beauty with a keenness of vision that Helen knew that her own exotic charm had held Leonard Brent partly under a spell for many years, she knew also that he wanted her out of his life.

BEDTIME STORY
Uncle Wiggily's Fox Surprise
Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily was lying on his back, all tied around with ropes, inside a pie. No, it wasn't a cherry apple or mince pie, it was just a rabbit pie. And Mr. Longears was the rabbit. Also in the pie with Uncle Wiggily was a little mouse, and the bunny gentleman had, in a paper bag, a big jumpy, leaping Jack in the Box toy he had bought for Baby Buntz just before being caught by the fox.

For, as I told you in the story last night, Uncle Wiggily had been caught by the fox family. He had been tied with ropes and put inside a big deep pie dish, with the top crust pulled over his head and now the pie, with the rabbit in it, was all ready for baking on a hot fire which Mr. and Mrs. Fox had made out of doors in front of their den.

But before the pie was put on to bake, Uncle Wiggily had a voice behind him asking if he wanted to be saved, and of course the rabbit gentleman said he did.

Then the foxes brought a clever little mouse, who had snuggled himself into the pie with the rabbit when Mr. Fox was not looking, then I am going to get you out of here."

While she worked she left the kitchen door open so that she might listen for the sound of the doorknob that would announce Brent's return. He wasn't, she knew, in the habit of using his key. And she had sent him away on a small errand in order to have an excuse to open the door herself.

Suddenly she appeared in the living-room—and remarked that if Leonard did not come soon he would probably not come at all. "You will find a well supplied dressing table in the guest room if you wish to touch up a bit before lunch," she added airily. "Leonard is such a thoughtful person."

Helen struggled with a desire to sit stonily in her chair, but conquered it with a laugh. "Thank you," she said with an emphasis that implied she was ready to accept this woman's assumption of the duties of hostess in Leonard's home. Then her voice changed and she said in a tone that startled even Carmel's blunted sensibilities: "By the way, what is your name?"

"Does it matter?" Carmel retorted rather warmly.

Helen shrugged. "It's a bit stupid not to know, since you appear to be entertaining for my host."

Carmel did not answer. She had turned back to the kitchen, where Helen could hear her making a great deal of noise. Helen smiled, but not in mirth.

She knew she had succeeded in concealing from the woman's eyes her own perturbation, but she did not gloat over it. Caught in the drift of despair herself she had no wish to make another suffer unnecessarily.

She was infinitely relieved when the doorknob rang and Carmel rushed out to answer it.

A few seconds later she witnessed a scene she brought her up standing as tense as a marble shaft, her eyes burning with indignation.

COAL INDUSTRY OF BRITAIN IS REORGANIZING

London, Oct. 8 (Canadian Press).—The British coal industry is rapidly moving toward reorganization. Yesterday the Durham coal owners approved the Government's scheme for regulation of prices and output. To-day the Northumberland owners met to consider it and on Thursday the officials of the Miners' Federation will confer with the committee of the Cabinet which is preparing a coal mining bill to be introduced at the coming session of Parliament.

This bill will deal with the question of working hours, the output, prices and mining royalties. It may also provide pensions for miners. Reports are that the owners, miners and Government officials are working together and that there is a likelihood of the House of Commons having before it a bill on which both the owners and men are already agreed.

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX—All my life I have said that I would never marry if I had to work after I married and that I would never live with either my or my husband's parents. Now the question arises as to whether I should stick to this or not. The man I love is not making enough for us to live on, and if I marry him I will have to keep my job. My mother offers us three rooms with a nominal rent until we can get on our feet.

Shall I marry the man I love and go on working? Will I be selfish to ask my sweetheart to live at my home when I have always protested so against it, and (this is most important) am I being terribly selfish for wanting a church wedding? After all, you get married only once in a lifetime and I want mine to be a beautiful memory. Something that no one could take away from me, no matter what happened.

MARGUERITE.

Answer—Life and circumstances change most of our plans for us, my dear, and when you get to be old and look back you will see that you have done most of the things that you said in your youth and inexperience that you wouldn't do and that you have done very few of the things that you said you would do.

So don't give a thought to the fact that you have always proclaimed that you wouldn't marry anybody but a rich man and that you wouldn't work and struggle like so many other girls you have seen wrestling with pots and pans and teething babies and a limited income and that you were going to have a house of your own when you got married. Every girl has thought that she was going to marry a Fairy Prince and has announced that she would take none other, and then love comes by and she gets up and follows whether he has a second shirt to his back or not or even a hovel to take her to.

Marry your fine young lover and accept your mother's offer to help and keep on with your job until your husband is able to make a living for you. Every wife who loves her husband wants to help him, and if you can do this better by earning money than you could by cooking and cleaning and sewing for him, there is no reason in the world why you shouldn't do so.

There are countless young couples situated as you are. The girl must continue to work after marriage or else they must put the marriage off for years and years until all of their romance has been worn to tatters and their very love has gone stale. By the time a long-drawn-out engagement ends in a wedding both the man and the woman have nearly always tired of each other and lost their zest for it.

So I think that it is a great deal better for a young couple to go along and get married, even when the wife has to work outside of the home, than it is for them to wait. They have some hardships, but they have the glory and the freshness of love and they have each other while they still want each other, and they have the happiness of working up together. And if a man and woman truly love each other that is about the best thing that life can give them.

I think it is a pity when a young couple has to live with either one of their parents after they are married, but in your case it is evidently the wisest thing to do and besides there is not the danger of conflict between a mother-in-law and a son-in-law that there is between a mother-in-law and a daughter-in-law. Women are nearly always pleased to have a son-in-law and are willing to be friends with him, and, besides, the mother-in-law's and son-in-law's interests do not clash as those of two women do.

But I strongly urge you against the church wedding which will run you in debt and start you out with a handicap in your new life. Don't be guilty of such a folly.

As for saying one is only married once in a lifetime, that is nonsense in these days of divorce and remarriage. And as for your wedding being a beautiful memory, that is as may be. If your marriage turns out happily you will always think of it as the most beautiful thing that ever happened, no matter if you and your man were married in the courthouse by a Justice of the Peace, but if it turns out a tragedy no tulle and white satin and orange blossoms and bridesmaids and ushers will keep the memory from being anything but a horror that you would like to forget.

So be sensible and save the money a show wedding would cost as the nest egg for your home.

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am the only daughter left at home out of a large family and have my mother to care for. I am thirty-two and work all day down town and, of course, have few amusements, and the dull life I lead, with only my mother for company, is getting on my nerves and telling on my temper both at the office and at home. Now I do not want to hurt my mother's feelings in any way, but do you think it very selfish of me to go out with my friends occasionally and leave her alone? I do every once in a while, but I feel so conscience-stricken that it spoils the good time I could have. I suppose it is the fate of the one left at home to have to care for these things, but I do so envy my sisters with their happy homes and dear little kiddies and freedom to go about.

SO LONELY.

Answer—I think the most foolish thing that any human being ever does is to enslave himself or herself to another. I do not believe that it is any one's duty to utterly sacrifice his or her own life to another.

In fact, I think that sacrifice is nearly always futile and that it often does harm that good. Telling is nearly always the case when children give up everything for their parents. Nine times out of ten it would have been better, even for the parents, if they had gone on and lived their own lives and carried out their own plans.

This will certainly happen in your particular case if you let your mother monopolize you so that you cut all pleasure and amusements out of your life and become nothing but a dreary drudge. You will become so peevish and nervous that you will be hard to live with and most likely you will lose your job because employers do not like to have irritable people who are hard to get along with around them. And you will end up in nervous prostration.

Of course, your mother wants your companionship and she does not realize that she is being selfish because she does not dream but that you are interested in hearing her twice-told tales as she is in hearing the fresh news that you bring in. Nor do the old, whose interest in the outside world is little, ever understand why young people want to go around and dance and do the things that they don't want to do.

But in this matter you have to save yourself. So why not just tell your mother that you are getting stale and nervous spending all of your time at home and that you must have your two or three evenings out a week in order to keep you chirped up and peppy?

And what about those sisters taking their turn in entertaining mother? If they live near, why don't you wish off one evening a week on them and tell Mary that she must come and sit with mother on Tuesday night and Sally on Thursday night and Susie on Saturday night. Or if they live away, write and tell them that Mother is their mother just as much as she is your mother and that it is up to them to invite her for a nice long visit and give you a rest.

There is no reason why the youngest child should always be the family goat, but she generally is.

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX—You say that kissing is no longer a proof of love. How then, can a fellow show his love for his sweetheart?

S. R. H. AND L. E. M.

Answer—I say kissing is no longer a proof of love because boys have made it legal tender for payment for taking a girl to the movies or an automobile ride or for any courtesies they show her and because girls do not save their kisses now for the man they expect to marry. They bestow them on every Tom, Dick and Harry that comes along.

No boy could possibly be in love with all of the half dozen girls he kisses in a single evening nor could any girl have any real affection for the multitude of boys she kisses. There is no more meaning now to a kiss than there is to a handshake. The only difference is there is more danger from germs.

A boy can prove his love for his sweetheart by his sincerity, by his faithfulness, by his consideration for her. If a boy is in love with a girl he will naturally want to kiss her, but because he wants to kiss her is no sign that he is in love with her.
